Morrow Youth Jailed In Hold-Up and Shooting

Gable, Carole Married

Grinning from ear to ear, Clark Gable rode triumphantly back to Hollywood today with a bride, blond Carole Lombard. Both are shown in a recent photo above. It was 6:15 last night when Mrs. Elizabeth Peters picked up her telephone here and heard a boisterous laughing male voice exclaim: "Hello, mom, this is your new son-in-law." Her son-in-law and daughter Carole were in Kingman, Ariz., in the study of Rev. Kenneth Engle who had just made them man and wife. They arrived in Hollywood this morning.

7 Dead, Many Missing As Rains Sweep South

Automobiles Plunge Into Swollen Stream as Bridge Collapses; Cloudbursts and Hailstorms Strike Two States.

BULLETIN

Associated Press dispatches from Vicksburg, Miss., shortly before noon today said that Mrs. Mary Schrack Murray, Mansfield, had been killed when a car plunged into Clear creek, and that her sister, Gladys Schrack, also of Mansfield, had been injured. Efforts to locate relatives of the two Mansfield women were not immediately successful.

BULLETIN

EAST BREWTON, Ala.—(U.P.)—A tornado roared into the heart of this town of 1,500 early today and left two persons injured and a half dozen buildings demolished.

(By International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga.—At least seven persons were dead and an undetermined number were missing today, while numerous others suffered injuries as the result of torrential rains which swept the southeastern states last night.

The heavy rains, breaking droughts in several sections, brought flood threats to a number of areas.

Six of the deaths were recorded in Mississippi when automobiles plunged into the swollen Clear creek, west of the Big Black river last night near Vicksburg, Miss., when a bridge collapsed. One fatality, a colored woman, was reported in Georgia.

The Mississippi fatalities were listed as: James Marcus Meek, an oil driller of Canton, Miss.; S. M. Wilson, of Jackson; an unidentified woman; Miss Margaret Guice and Mrs. Ann Turner, both of Memphis, Tenn.

The bodies of Miss Guice and Mrs. Turner had not been recovered at a late hour this morning.

State Inquiry Starts.

It was estimated that between seven and 11 automobiles and one truck plunged into the stream after the bridge across Clear creek collapsed. Highway officials began an investigation into the cause of the collapse this morning.

The escort of Mrs. Turner, Leroy Meek, brother of one of the victims, succeeded in breaking the glass window of his car and extricated Mrs. Turner, only to have her torn from his grasp as he attempted to swim through the swirling waters toward the shore.

T. L. McIntosh, driver of one of the first vehicles to go over the dead end of the bridge, scrambled to the highway and frantically flagged two cars, only to have them ignore his warnings and plunge into the stream.

Cloudbursts were reported in Panola, Tunica and Tate counties in Mississippi, causing damage estimated at upwards of $30,000.

At Leland, Miss., hailstones almost as large as golf balls battered the city and forced a flock of wild ducks down into the streets of the town. Many of the fowl were stunned and later were caught by the townfolk.

REPORTS MILLION LOSS

MIDDLETOWN — (AP) — The American Rolling Mill company reported today a net loss in 1938 of $1,307,880 compared to a net income of $8,231,334 in 1937, and sales in 1938 of $70,441,606 compared to $14,857,600 the preceding year.

M'NUTT BOOMED

Indiana Democrats Push Him for Presidency.

INDIANAPOLIS — (INS) — The candidacy of 47-year-old Paul V. McNutt, former governor of Indiana and present high commissioner to the Philippines, for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940, was advanced formally today by the Indiana state Democratic committee.

Announcement of the committee's action, made by Frank McHale, a Democratic national committeeman, was the first formal declaration for a presidential candidate, although several states have been quietly grooming "favorite son" candidates.

McHale said that on behalf of the Indiana state committee, he had dispatched letters to Democratic leaders all over the country notifying them that McNutt's hat was in the ring.

77-Year-Old Williamsport Gas Station Proprietor Wounded in Scuffle Over Gun.

FLEES WITH $4.60 IN BAG

Police Arrest Suspect With His 'Sweetheart' as He Drives to Movie.

A 17-year-old Morrow county youth was held in jail at Mt. Gilead today facing charges of armed robbery in connection with the shooting early last night of an aged filling station proprietor during a $4.60 holdup at Williamsport, 15 miles south of Mansfield on U. S. route 42.

He is Harold J. Wilson, 17, of R. D. 2, Lexington, who was picked up by Mansfield police less than an hour after the shooting while on his way to see a picture show here. He was accompanied by his 17-year-old sweetheart.

Shot In Back.

The victim of the shooting, Walter Fringer, 77, of Williamsport, is under the care of a physician at his home today suffering from a bullet wound in the back. His condition was described as "good."

Wilson was arrested by Lieut. Paul Whipp and Patrolman John Steele at 8:40 p. m. as he drove toward downtown Mansfield on Lexington avenue.

The officers who were on cruiser duty had been notified by radio of the hold-up and had been given a description of the automobile and the license number.

Find Money Bag.

They related that they sighted the machine moving east on Lexington avenue but that the license number was not the same given them. They trailed the car from the city limits to Harter avenue where they pulled alongside the machine as it stopped for a traffic light.

Upon searching the youth, police said they found the money bag containing $4.25 in change which had been described to them as the one taken during the stickup.

Both the youth and his "girl" who lives near Wilson, were brought to police headquarters where he denied any knowledge of the shooting. The girl told the officers that Wilson had come to her home only half hour before and that they were on their way to the picture show.

BAIL REFUSED

Torrio Ordered Kept in Jail Cell During Tax Trial.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Rudely cast into jail for the duration of his trial, quiet little Johnny Torrio, last of the prohibition era gangsters, was hustled back into a heavily guarded federal courtroom today to hear the government outline its income tax evasion case against him.

Torrio and his four co-defendants were considerably stunned by the court's edict that they spend all their hours outside of court behind the bars of a federal detention cell.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Seymour Klein, recovering from a severe cold, was prepared to make his opening address today to the jury of five women and seven men.

Specifically, the government is claiming $87,000 in unpaid income taxes plus interest and penalties for the years of 1933-'34 and '35 from Torrio who used to boast he was too small to be shot and too big to be caught.

Richland's Last Unsolved Murder Year Old Today

Richland county's last unsolved murder is just a year old today.

A year ago tonight Sherman Reed, 58-year-old WPA worker, was found beaten to death in his cottage on Seventh avenue, where he lived alone.

Reed, father of 10 children, apparently was murdered by an assailant who attacked him from behind as he prepared a meal in the kitchen.

No real clue in the slaying was ever found although Sheriff E. P. Long and city detectives worked on the case for weeks, questioning scores of persons.

The death weapon apparently was a piece of gas pipe, a part of which was found near the body. The other section was never found. A notebook Reed used which bore indentations from a message written on the top sheet was sent to FBI headquarters at Washington, but it produced nothing.

HONORS BISHOP

Pope Pius Gives Schrembs Rank of Archbishop.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Pope Pius XII, in his first major promotion of an American member of the Roman Catholic hierarchy, has elevated Bishop Joseph Schrembs to the rank of archbishop in recognition of the Cleveland prelate's "outstanding merits."

The Apostolic delegation at Washington, in announcing the honor last night, said Rome also was mindful that the new archbishop would observe next June 29 the 50th anniversary of his coronation to the priesthood.

"I am very surprised," said the head of the Cleveland diocese when told of the announcement. He remarked that he had had no knowledge, official or unofficial, that he was to be thus honored.

This Bride Goes To 'Altar' In Bloomers, Blouse and Sweater

(Pictures on Page 8)

The bride, reclining on the shoulder of her father, was beautifully dressed in dark blue bloomers, a white blouse and sweater and for her bouquet carried a tennis racquet tastefully adorned with red and white paper flowers, while the groom was very smartly turned out in tan breeches, red flannel shirt and hunting boots.

No, the society department hasn't gone haywire, but the "athletic wedding" at Senior high school yesterday sort of complicated things and there was some doubt as to whether the story belonged on the society page, the sports section or in the school news.

Anyway, the wedding took place on the stage of the auditorium and sports clothes were required. The event was sponsored by the Girls' Athletic association of the school.

The bride was Ruth Smith while her much shorter groom was Marjorie Boals. The wedding proper was proceeded with an appropriate skit in which Dan Cupid (Miriam Miller) ensnared two lovers, (Betty Hanlon as the boy, and Donna

PLEDGES AID TO AIRPORT PLANS

Ashbrook Informs C. of C. He'll Support Proposed Development Program.

Congressman William A. Ashbrook in a letter to the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce today pledged his support to the government's proposed airport development program in which the Mansfield airport is listed for improvement.

The letter was in answer to a communication sent the congressman early this week by Robert M. Miller, acting secretary-manager of the chamber, asking Ashbrook to support the program when it comes before congress.

Miller also wrote to members of the house and senate military affairs committees urging them to support the plan submitted by the Civil Aeronautics Authority last week.

The authority at that time recommended to congress a $435,000,000 program to develop and improve 3,000 airports throughout the nation.

The plan calls for the expenditure by the government of approximately $360,000 for the improvement of Mansfield airport which would then be a part of a federally maintained system of scheduled airmail stops.

JAPAN CALLS IN THREE ENVOYS

Invites U. S., French and British Ambassador To Conference.

TOKYO — (INS) — Japanese Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita has invited the United States, British and French ambassadors to Tokyo to his residence tomorrow for "conversations on diplomatic affairs," it was understood today.

Nature of the proposed conversations, which aroused keen speculations, was not divulged.

It was regarded as significant, however, that the reported invitation was issued immediately after a statement by Premier Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma that Japan belongs neither to the democratic nor totalitarian bloc of nations.

Mussolini Flays Premier of France for Failure to Take Steps to Meet Demands.

'Pacts or No Pacts' Italy Will Stand Pat, Dictator Tells Cheering Throngs.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain intimated to the House of Commons today that Britain's navy and air force would be expanded.

(By United Press)

COSENZA, Italy—Premier Benito Mussolini told a cheering crowd in the great Lictor square today that Italy would not "remain a prisoner in the Mediterranean" and that its claim to special concessions as regards the Suez canal had to be satisfied.

Praising the "defeat of bolshevism" in the Spanish civil war and the role Italians played in it, Mussolini said that Italy was ready to stand up for her claims.

Refers to France.

Then, in what his hearers took as a reference to France's attitude on his "aspirations," Mussolini pounded his right fist on the stone railing of the government building balcony from which he spoke and said:

"Pacts or no diplomatic pacts, we will never resign ourselves to remaining prisoners in the Mediterranean."

Mussolini arrived this morning on a tour of Calabria, during which he was expected to make several speeches bearing on the refusal of Premier Edouard Daladier of France to take the first step in French-Italian negotiations.

As Mussolini left Rome by special train last night, 250,000 men of the classes of 1918 and 1919 were reporting for armed duty.

It was reported that before he returned to Rome he might meet Field Marshal Hermann Goering, Adolf Hitler's right hand man, at Naples.

Franco Might Attend.

In some fascist quarters it was even rumored that Generalissimo Francisco Franco of nationalist Spain might attend this meeting, or meet them later at some convenient point for a conference on Italian-German-Spanish policy.

The 250,000 men whom Mussolini called to the colors were moving to their barracks even before he left Rome. They carried banners inscribed "Tunisia-Djibouti-Suez Canal," "the Mediterranean is ours" and "more cannons, more battleships, more airplanes." They

County Heads For New High Mark In Filing of Divorces

Based on figures for the first quarter of 1939, the county is headed for a new high this year in divorces filed in common pleas court.

At the end of the first three months, 52 divorce suits already have been filed, an increase of 15 over the same period last year.

The suits increased monthly as 1938 progressed, however, while this year the petitions have dropped off each month since January.

There were 22 suits started in January this year, 18 in February, and 12 this month. Last year, there were nine in January, 13 in February, and 15 in March.

Judge C. H. Huston, who hears the cases, asserted recently that too many dissatisfied wives and husbands are taking their troubles to the court, and added that he will refuse decrees in cases except where reconciliation appears out of the question.

HICCOUGHS END

CHICAGO —(INS)— A little-used drug, musk, today ended a seven-day siege of hiccoughs which threatened to kill Mrs. Elsie Westcott, 45.

Doctors grew desperate as Mrs. Westcott's spasms, during which she sometimes hiccoughed 38 times a minute, continued, and they were planning an operation on her diaphram when they decided to try musk.

Romance Youthful Problem

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I've learned to care very much for a certain girl, whom I've known only about six weeks. She goes out with me three and four times a week, but she doesn't give me much encouragement when it comes to love. The reason for this is that she went "steady" for about two years with another boy who left her quite suddenly for another girl. Since then she has lost faith in all men. She says all men are alike and she can't believe any of them.

WILL

This girl must have reasons of her own for wishing to exaggerate her opinion of men. Perhaps she wants you to pity her, which, as you know, is supposed to inspire love. It seems to me that, if she really feels that all men are untrue, she wouldn't go out with you at all. If you persist, in all probability she'll change her mind. Best of luck to you.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Not so long ago my folks would not allow me to go out with boys, so every time a certain boy asked me I had to decline with thanks. I like this boy very much, but he got tired of asking me, and doesn't pay any more attention to me

Now I'm allowed to go out occasionally with boys, but he doesn't ask me any more. Would it be wise to tell him I now may have company?

MITZIE

By all means let him know that the ban has been lifted at home. Why not give a Sunday night supper party? Invite him to this party, with three or five others, and have a good time.

Sugar, added in the proportion of ¼ of a teaspoon to 2 cups of vegetable will improve the flavor of cooked peas, corn, lima beans or beets. The sugar should be added just before the vegetable is served.

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Shall I summon Olina?" I said quietly.

"If you will, please," she returned, and then she looked at me with what I guessed was a sudden impulse.

"Are the flowers in your garden still as abundant as they were?" she asked.

"There are myriads of them," I told her.

"You mustn't pick the roses," she said. "That would rob the garden. But if you can send me as many of the other flowers as you can spare, and plenty of green, I shall be grateful. Also, I should like some baskets and vases. I have a fancy to make this room a very bower of bloom."

"You shall have them as soon as Jim can pick them," I told her.

"Thank you so much," she said. "And now if you will call Olina, please."

I went to the connecting door and knocked; Olina answered it. She smiled at me very prettily, and I gave her a perfunctory smile in return. But deep in my soul there was hot resentment against her.

"Your mother wishes to see you," I told her. Without further speech, I turned away and walked back to the hall door. With my hand upon the knob, I looked back at Olga.

"I'll bring the blossoms up myself," I said. "Then there'll be no necessity for Jim or anyone else disturbing you."

"Thank you so much for—everything," she said, and then I left her with her daughter, and hurried down the corridor to the kitchen stairway. But I was not to reach it unhindered by delay. My mother-in-law's door opened when I was half way down the hall. I guessed that, with her door slightly ajar, she apparently had been "lying in wait" for me. She spoke in an imperative whisper:

"Margaret! come here, please."

"What can I do for you, Mother?" I asked when I had entered the room.

"You can sit down there and tell me everything that happened," she retorted, indicating a chair opposite her.

But "necessity sharpened invention," and instead of taking the chair I looked at her appealingly.

"Mother dear," I said, "couldn't I tell you just as well in the flower garden?"

"The flower garden," she echoed, glowering at me. "Are you crazy?"

"No not in the least," I told her smiling. "But Queen Olga has asked me to get her all the flowers I can spare to decorate her room."

She took the bait eagerly.

"Why does she want flowers? Oh! because Philip Veritzen is coming to see her. She must be very much interested."

"She is, I think," I told her, "but really I'd like—"

"You can tell me the rest in the garden," she said peremptorily, for all the world as if I had not just made the proposal. "I'll just get my gardening hat and come with you. Two can pick more quickly than one."

How to "heel in"

By DEAN HALLIDAY

"Will it make any difference if I don't get around to planting the shrubs for a few days after they are delivered?" asks the amateur gardener. "No," says the nurseryman, "just heel them in until you are ready for planting." Just what does the nurseryman mean by "heeling in," and how is it done?

Today's Garden-Graph illustrates one method of "heeling in." This is called the "trench" method. The trench should be about 6 inches deep. Lay the shrubs in this trench, in a semi-horizontal position, as illustrated, and throw the loose dirt over their roots. If the earth is damp, no water will be necessary, but if the soil is dry allow the hose to run in the trench until the ground is thoroughly soaked.

Shield the exposed tops of the shrubs from cold winds or sun by covering them loosely with a piece of burlap or heavy paper.

Etiquette

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

"For what meals is the buffet service appropriate?" I like to receive this question—and I do, very often—because it means the probability of enlisting another recruit in the regiment of buffet party hostesses.

A buffet party is the easiest kind of party to give. It appeals to the hostess because it's the minimum of bother; it appeals to the guest, because it's the maximum of fun. The cost is slight. You need no service. You do all the planning beforehand.

Simple, inexpensive foods are the most appropriate, and the most popular. You can set your table with special charm. You can, with one fell swoop, pay back many social indebtedness. You can combine all kinds of people and let them do their own circulating in the groups they find most congenial. There are no seating problems, as at a formal dinner. After your table is set, and the foods prepared, you can relax, and have a grand time at your own party. And your guests will have a grand time helping themselves.

Sigh no more, my lady. Your entertaining budget is small? You love to give parties? You have a long list of friends to whom you owe entertaining of some kind? Your home is small? Away with all these flimsy excuses! Buffet parties are your smart and easy solution. Get this friendly habit-of-hospitality!

To Dye or Not to Dye

By MME. QUI VIVE

Considering the tumult that has been going on in this crazy world of ours, what most of us have been through the last ten lean years, it would seem that any woman should have the courage to observe the first grey hairs not throw a fit or go into a panic.

The greying lady is at the fork of the road. She can be a rightist which means that she'll take what comes, make the most of the white locks, keep young by cultivating a lovely complexion, slender figure and a taste for dress. Or, she can become an addict of the dye pot. If she turns to the right she will save herself a lot of trouble and expense since hair coloring must go on. You don't dye once and then never have to think about it. You keep on dyeing every six weeks or so.

The way some women pour troubles on their heads make the professional dyers weep in dismay. The poor dears—meaning the trouble—pourers select a coloring medium at random. That's making a bad start. There are dozens of these preparations that are safe and reliable. No one will suit all heads. The chances are the results of the home experimenting will be disappointing, so another medium is applied and then the jig is up. This explorer into the realms of beautifying doesn't realize that she is dealing with chemicals that are likely to bring a surprising state of affairs. Combine two preparations and her hair may be taupe, green, streaked of mottled.

If you are at the crossroads, have decided that you prefer your pristine crest to one that is frosted, find a conscientious beauty operator, get his or her advice. If your locks are pepper-and-salty it won't be easy to get a uniform color. Certainly you can't do it. But it can be done.

My Neighbor Says:

When Jerusalem cherry trees cease to blossom and leaves drop off they should be set to rest in a cool place where there is plenty of light. Cut the tops almost to the ground leaving two or three eyes. Keep the soil dry, but spray the tops daily until new leaves start. Set out of doors when weather is warm.

Cheese sauce poured over buttered shrimps or tuna fish makes a tasty luncheon, supper or light dinner dish.

To remove water stains or rings from furniture first rinse out a cloth in water. Next sprinkle the cloth with one teaspoonful of household ammonia. Quickly apply it to the ring or stain, carefully rubbing the area. Then wipe the surface dry immediately with a soft cloth and apply a bit of furniture polish.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

A RULE TO STRESS

ONE RULE WORTH stressing directs the lead from an almost worthless hand against a no trump game. With such a holding, you know the defense will devolve mainly upon your partner, that if your own long suit gets set up you probably can never regain the lead to cash its long card or cards.

Your assignment therefore is to strive to hit your partner's long suit, by leading some short suit of your own. If you happen to pick the right one, your side may down an otherwise unbeatable contract.

	♠ Q 9 7 6 ♥ K J 3 ♦ 8 4 2 ♣ Q 9 6

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

Every South in a duplicate tournament got into 3-No trump on this deal, most of them via North's 1-Heart, South's 1-No trump and North's 3-No trump. The relative results depended on the lead chosen by West.

Wherever West picked the old-fashioned fourth-best lead of the club 2, South made two overtricks, with three tricks in spades, four in hearts, one in diamonds and three in clubs. Where a spade was led and a shift made to diamonds, it was held to exactly game with no overtricks.

Nobody set the contract, not even those players who combined probabilities of suit-length in their partners' hands with the desirability of leading combinations in their own hands. These led the diamond J, which theoretically is the best lead in the hand. It proved practically correct too, as it also prevented overtricks. In a nutshell, the shortsuit leaders were tied for top and the long-suit leaders for bottom score on the deal.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, March 31.

A DAY of great opportunity and importance is read from the mutual as well as lunar transits, which also are significant of many conflicting and confusing developments. The main point is that a long static and crystallized condition in investments, business or property may be broken up with drastic and surprising suddenness, making way for very definite progress. Expanded interests and personal prestige may make possible a political, diplomatic or public post of major importance. But deal cautiously with strangers.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of splendid opportunity for stabilizing the fortune, expanding the interests and possessions, either through sharp business coups, speculation or investments. This may come after a break up of old stagnations. A rise to unexpected heights of importance and influence, perhaps in political, diplomatic, educational or ecclesiastical circles, is probable.

A child born on this day may be extremely talented, versatile, steady, persistent and hardworking, having much faith in its own efforts and anticipating a high destiny.

CONVICT'S DAUGHTER + + +

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

A strange man was waiting in the corridor outside Jim's room when Lona reached the hospital the morning after the accident which had sent Jim plunging off the bridge into the river bed. He was a kindly-eyed, middle-aged man with the ruddy skin that comes of a life in the open, and he offered Lona a competent looking hand.

"I'm Clark Martin, the engineer in charge of the bridge," he told her. "I've come over to see if there's anything we can do for Jim. I can't tell you how sorry we are to have a thing like this happen. All the boys like Jim, you know."

"That's kind of you," Lona murmured. "Have you seen Jim? How is he this morning? The hospital office girl had been missing from her desk when Lona came through and she had no news.

"They wouldn't let me see him." The man shook his head. "The nurse says he's doing as well as can be expected. She's with him now. It's sort of—tough on you, Mrs. Bennett, having a thing like this happen when you're just—new in town and all. I hope you'll let us know if anything is needed. We iron workers sort of—stick together, you know." His smile came a little uneasily, Lona thought. As if he knew something he was keeping back from her.

"That's kind of you," she repeated for lack of anything better to say. "But there really isn't anything to be done. Everyone's been so kind. I didn't realize there were so many kind people in the world."

"If there's anything you want," you're to remember." He, too, was repeating himself awkwardly. "We will all visit him as soon as the doctor allows it."

He made a motion to put on his hat, then seemed to think better of it. "There's a little matter I'd like to talk over with you personally, Mrs. Bennett," he brought out almost apologetically "I hate to bother you at a time like this. I was going to ask Jim about it, but they don't want him disturbed." He shrugged and reached inside his coat pocket, drawing out a letter.

"Yes?" Lona felt her breath coming fast without knowing why.

"I really hate to trouble you with a thing like this, but I sort of think you — ought to know about it. You see, I—I received this letter in the morning mail. It's from a detective and he seems to think that maybe Jim—he's looking for a fellow and he—Here, you read it!" He thrust the letter at her as if it were hot

"Someone sent this to you asking about Jim?" Lona's hands were cold, suddenly, her fingers stiff, as she unfolded the paper.

"Dear Mr. Martin," she read: "The Western Detective Agency is trying to locate a certain James Rankin We have reason to believe that James Bennett, who came into your employ several weeks back, may be Rankin. I was in Brighton yesterday and made inquiries which tend to further our belief. I was called back to Chicago without getting to see him personally, but I expect to return within two weeks.

"If you have any information regarding Bennett which might be useful to us, please forward it to the Western Detective Agency. By so doing you will be serving the ends of justice. We are particularly anxious to know if Bennett has a western background and an engineer's training. The affair in which he is wanted occurred in the West.

Jack Price,
"Western Detective Agency."

"But I—I don't understand this." Lona forced the words through unwilling lips. "Why should they be hunting Jim?"

"I just sort of thought you—ought to know." The engineer's eyes refused to meet hers.

"But it must be some mistake! Why, Jim's never been in the west!" The lie came almost involuntarily. "He—he was raised in Chicago And I'm sure he has no engineer's training. He's never been to college." Something impelled her to go on recklessly.

"You're sure of that?" Relief showed in Martin's kindly weather-beaten eyes.

"Of course. It's ridiculous." She tried to sound convincing.

"Then we'll forget it. I knew there was nothing in it, of course. Jim's too fine a fellow, but I—had to ask." He jammed the letter back in his pocket, and reached again for his hat.

"I'll keep in touch," he promised "We'll all come to see Jim when he's able And, in the meantime, the best of luck!"

"Thank you," Lona heard herself murmuring, her body tensing itself to sit nonchalantly on her chair until he had gone.

She sat on there beside Jim's closed door for a long time after Mr. Martin's footsteps had ceased to clump on the floor. In her mind she was going over the letter she had read, and panic took hold of her. It WAS Jim for whom they were hunting. Despite her denials to Dinah and Mr. Martin, she could no longer hide the truth from herself. It was Jim! He was wanted.

Sitting there, a hundred little details that had happened since she had known Jim came crowding back. Things she had scarcely noticed or been curious about at the time. His unwillingness to talk about himself or his family. His hatred of newspapers and his fear of being photographed. The way they had fled from the big city when that picture of him had been published—and it was flight! She had to acknowledge it now. Jim was afraid.

Afraid of what? The question forced itself into her mind, finally, try as she might to keep it back. What had Jim done? Was it something that might take him away from her if he were traced? She thought swiftly of her father and the way he had died back there in that gray stone horror of a prison, and a little cry escaped her.

"Not that!" she murmured, and covered her face with her hand as if to keep out the crowding memories. "Not that! Not Jim, too!" It could not be that! It couldn't be that Jim was hunted—a criminal. Still there was that letter! "Wanted" . . . "Serving the ends of justice." The words stood out in her brain. That meant, could only mean, one thing—a thing she couldn't bear to believe, couldn't stand to face.

She must put it up to Jim, she decided a few minutes later, as she smoothed back her tumbled hair and slipped a powder puff over her hot face. She must tell him what she had discovered, warn him. After all, it might not be so bad. There might still be some explanation, other than the one she feared. She felt, suddenly, the need of seeing him, of watching the little crooked half-smile she knew so well spread over his face, of hearing his drawling, "Girl—"

Without waiting for a summons, she opened the door of his room and edged inside. The nurse was seated at his bedside and she frowned at the intrusion. "You were to stay out," she said, in a warning whisper. "The doctor left orders."

"But I thought he was better. You didn't call me. What has happened?" Dismay made Lona's voice sharp, and the figure on the bed stirred violently.

MARRIAGES LAG DESPITE BONUS PLAN IN ITALY

Slump Occurs in Face of Huge Loans, Prizes Offered to Couples by Government.

ROME, (U.P.) — To encourage Italians to marry and produce more children the Fascist regime is spending an average of almost $6,000,000 annually in baby prizes and marriage loans, a study of official statistics reveals.

The results have not been entirely encouraging to Premier Benito Mussolini. Last year there was a decline of almost 12 per cent in the number of marriages, although the number of births increased roughly 5 per cent compared to the previous year.

Although there were fewer weddings, the government spent approximately $4,500,000 on "marriage loans," an institution which was initiated at the close of 1937. Since March, 1935, when the "more babies" campaign was launched, the government has spent more than $13,000,000 in prizes to mothers, bonuses for triplets, and similar gifts.

Years' Gains 424,394

The increased birth-rate registered last year (from 22.7 per 1,000 to 23.6) brought 46,295 more babies than in 1937. Because births exceeded deaths there was an increase of 424,394 in the nation's population, bringing the total up to 44,056,000, which is almost 4,000,000 more than when Mussolini came to power. He hopes to bring it up to 60,000,000 before 1960.

But Mussolini isn't satisfied. Before the war Italy's birth-rate was well over 30 per 1,000 inhabitants. Last year it was only 23.6 per 1,000. Mussolini had hoped the system of marriage loans and baby prizes would bring a greater increase in the marriage and birth-rate.

Bachelors Heavily Taxed

The government has done everything in its power to oblige Italians to marry and rear families. In addition to the financial attractions offered by the government in the way of marriage loans and baby prizes, there are definite punitive measures against bachelors and childless families.

A government employe cannot obtain promotion if he does not marry. Employes with large families get preferential consideration for promotion and special bonuses in proportion to the number of children. The bonus only amounts to a few lire per week per child. Employes of private firms obtain the same treatment.

Bachelors are taxed 25 per cent more than married men. Heads of large families get special tax rebates, reductions on the railways and other discounts.

Despite all these measures there does not appear any great rush to rear large families. Foreign observers believe two factors are responsible: first, a natural decline in the fecundity of Italian women, and second, the increasing cost of living in Italy, which makes it more difficult to support larger families, even with the help of government loans and prizes.

SILVER CUP MADE IN LONDON IN 1765 TO BECOMES SALES TROPHY

A silver cup, hand made in London in 1765—11 years before the American colonies declared their independence—is on display in the window of the Ott jewelry store, Park avenue west.

The cup arrived in Mansfield several days ago, a gift to the Ohio Public Service company from H. Towers, commercial manager of the Edmundson Electricity Corporation, Ltd., of London, who visited here last June.

It is mounted on a modern black base which is decorated with six silver shields and two inscription plates. On one is the name of the donor "In appreciation of a very pleasant visit, 1938".

On the second plate is the legend: "This cup was made in London, England, in the year 1765. In St. Mabyn's, Cornwall, there is an alms dish by the same maker."

The silver vessel has two widespread handles and on the inside are faint marks of the silversmith's hammer.

The cup is a valuable one and the Ohio Public Service company has planned to make it an annual sales trophy, awarded each year to the employe who is voted the best and most successful salesman by his fellow workers. The cup will be given into the possession of the winner for a year and then turned over to each successor. The names of each winner will be engraved on the silver shields at the base of the cup. Until it is awarded it will be mounted in a glass case and kept on display at the office of the Ohio Public Service.

The gift was sent to Joy A. Herbert, new business manager of the company, who was host to Towers and his wife when they were in the city.

LEWISTON, Idaho — (INS) — It was all in the day's work for three steel workers who dived into the swirling and icy waters of the Snake River from a high trestle to rescue three boatmen whose craft was wrecked against the bridge. The boatmen were saved, the workmen unhurt, and after changing their clothes went back to their riveting again.

Ted Williams Is Red Sox Regular

TED WILLIAMS . . . he's the right fielder.

By DILLON GRAHAM

SARASOTA, Fla.—(AP)—Last spring young Ted Williams came busting into the Boston Red Sox camp hailed as another Joe DiMaggio.

Pacific coast scribes said the San Diego outfielder would be as much of a first year sensation as was that other California fly-chaser with the Yankees. But before Williams had been around long enough to get a good sunburn he was packed off to the Minneapolis training quarters.

Joe Cronin saw that he was a comer but with Roger Cramer, Joe Vosmik and Ben Chapman around there wasn't a spot for Williams. Cronin told him to go out and get some more seasoning while biding his time.

So the beanpole kid treated the Menneapolis fans to some of the sweetest swatting they'd seen in years. He burned up the American association. He led the A. A. hitters with a .366 average, scored 130 runs, hit for 371 total bases and banged out 43 home runs.

When he reported to the Red Sox camp this year, Cronin took him aside and said: "Young man, you're the rightfielder." With Ben Chapman traded to Cleveland, Boston has room for a hard-hitting outfielder. Cronin won't be surprised if Williams turns out to be one of the rookie flashes of the season.

The Red Sox also needed another left-handed hitter. Williams will fill that necessity. The 20-year-old recruit stands 6-feet-3 and weighs 180.

He's only been in professional baseball for two years, with San Diego and Minneapolis.

Launch Ticket Drive Monday

500 Fans Greet New Mansfield Club Officers at Legion Party, Hear of Plans for Season.

MANSFIELD was thinking and talking in terms of baseball—particularly the Ohio State league type—more seriously today than ever.

Diamond interest reached a new pre-season high in the city last night when nearly 500 dyed-in-the-wool fans packed the American Legion auditorium for a "Fan Night" party, arranged by the Citizens' committee, headed by Herbert R. Slough.

The home town fans met the officials of the new Mansfield club, which will carry the city's banner in organized baseball again this year, and heard them explain their plans for the season.

Promise Scrappy Team.

While no pennant was predicted for Mansfield, club officials promised the city a well-balanced, scrappy ball team that should be "high in the race."

Slough briefly explained the ticket campaign for the opening game Wednesday, May 3, which the committee will launch Monday.

The pasteboard drive will be held throughout the week, which will mark Mansfield's participation in National Baseball week to be observed over the nation from April 1 to 8.

Slough, who presided at the meeting, said that the goal of the drive is 5,000, and confidentially predicted that the possibility of reaching the high figure was encouraging.

He also told the enthusiastic assemblage that the $1 tickets will be sold for the opening game, but purchasers may use them on any day during the season if unable to attend the inaugural with the Tiffin club.

Gratified by the big turnout, Norman Cohen, president of the club, pointed out the improvements involving the expenditure of nearly $9,000 that will be made at the fairground.

The new improvements will include the erection of a grandstand addition, a new fence and scoreboard, a light plant for night games and a rearrangement of the diamond.

Cohen told his listeners that every effort will be made to put a team on the field that will prove popular with the fans.

William Purcell, secretary of the Mansfield club, said that "no expense will be spared in giving Mansfield a winning ball club."

Damon (Buzz) Wetzel, former Ohio State football star, who is business manager of the club, spoke briefly on plans for the season. He said he was impressed with he interest manifest in baseball in the city, and declared that every attempt will be made to keep the fans interested with a good ball club.

Ollie Marquardt, manager of the Cedar Rapids, Ia., club of the Three-I league, represented the Cleveland Indians at the meeting, and said that the major league affiliate would "co-operate 100 per cent in the attempt to give Mansfield a winning club."

Mansfielders Speak.

Other speakers included Frank A. Voegele, Mansfield business man, who served as chairman of the committee which conducted the pre-season ticket drive for the club sponsored by the Boston Red Sox in the city two years ago, and Harry Albrecht, one of Mansfield's most enthusiastic fans, who has been in the baseball picture in Mansfield since the days of Ed Delehanty.

Guests introduced by Slough included Grover Hartley, manager of the Findlay club; A. H Younker, president of the Fostoria club; V. E. (Poody) Switzer, sports editor of the Fostoria Daily Review and secretary of the Fostoria club; Michael DiSalle, president of the Lima club, and his manager, Bill Ward, and business manager, Charles Kessler; John Newton, former Mansfield boxer, an ardent baseball fan, and Larry Scott of Toledo, new groundkeeper.

Official films of both the American and National leagues were shown at the pre-season celebration.

Thin-Clads Prep for Inaugural

Red Streaks Face Strong Springfield Club at Stadium Saturday.

WITH 14 lettermen and a promising crop of inexperienced talent available, Mansfield high school's track prospects are encouraging.

But Coach Harry Mehock stated today that he will delay his predictions for the season until he has seen the Red Streaks in competition.

Meet Tough Foe

Although he conducted a number of trials for the candidates, Mehock will be offered his first chance to see what his new thinclad edition can do under pressure at 2:30 p. m. Saturday when Springfield comes to Stadium field for a dual meet.

The Red Streaks face one of the toughest teams on their schedule in the inaugural, and a victory at the expense of Springfield would boost Mansfield's track stock considerable.

Springfield won the southwestern district championship last year, and stacks up as one of the stronger southern Ohio teams again this season, Mehock has been informed.

Mehock has been impressed with the development of the new material, but indicated that the veterans would carry the burden in the battle for points Saturday.

Lettermen who will see action Saturday are Howard Hershey, Martin Henke, Joe Lehr, Jim Lemunyon, Dick McMullen, Rich Nagle Johnny Phaler, Jack Lyons, Ike Smith, Bob Donnon, Joe Logan, Harold Gallagher, and, of course, John Linta, Mehock's pole vaulting ace.

Logan, Lemunyon and Smith will carry the Mansfield colors in the sprints, with Donnan, Rose, McMullen and Henke appearing in the distance events.

Hershey and Lyons will team with Linta in the pole vault, while Phaler will get the call in the hurdles. Lehr is probably Mehock's best broad jumping bet and Nagle and Gallagher should collect some points in the weight events.

Indoor Star

Easily the outstanding star of the indoor track season, John Borican, the New Jersey speedster, is expected to be one of the strongest U. S. candidates for the 1940 Olympic team. Borican has smashed four world marks in the indoor meets in the east, namely, the two-thirds mile, the 1,000-yard and the 880-meter and 880-yard records. His last appearance was in the Chicago relays.

1938 Elimination Scoring Champ to Play With Marion Club at Y.

TONIGHT'S GAMES
7:30—Yuncker Sports vs. Blue Goose Sohioans.
8:30—Marion Snappy Service vs. Johns Park.
9:30—Westinghouse vs. Ashland Bobcats.

By CHARLES MARTIN

RAY GREENE, individual scoring champion of last year's Y. M. C. A. tourney, returns to the Y hardwood at 8:30 p. m. today to lead the Snappy Service quintet of Marion against Johns Park in a quarter-final tussle of The News-Journal-Y. M. C. A. Gold Medal basketball elimination playoffs.

The Marion star will share the spotlight along with the Yuncker Sports, pre-tourney favorites, who tackle the dangerous Blue Goose Sohioans in the opening affair at 7:30 o'clock. A contest between the Westinghouse Electrics and Ashland Bobcats brings the evening's action to a close.

Scored 24 Points.

Whether Greene, who has been the Marion club's leading scorer for the past two years, and who copped the individual honors last year with 48 points, will be able to duplicate his feat remains to be seen, but the Parkmen will have a difficult job to throttle the sharpshooter.

The Blue Goose outfit, which turned in a creditable performance in its opening game, will be strengthened tonight. Kenny Hardin, Friendly House Senior league star, was unable to play in the initial tilt.

With Hardin, a clever rebound man, in the lineup, the Sohioans hope to offset the height advantage held by the Yuncker team. The Blue Goose club's chances of victory, however, rest on its ability to halt the high-scoring tactics of Al Stickler and Johnny Reese.

Stickler and Reese tallied 24 and 17 points, respectively, to account for more than half their team's total in the opening tilt.

Should Offer Trouble.

The Ashland team, composed of Industrial league stars, is expected to push the Electrics to the limit, but it is doubtful if it can down the fast breaking Westinghouse machine.

The semi-finals and finals will be played Friday night, with the championship game scheduled for 10 o'clock.

Ohio State Favored In A.A.U. Finals

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The National A. A. U. swimming championships were slated to get underway in Ohio State university's natatorium this afternoon with almost every world record holder entered in one event or another.

Ohio State, the only college ever to win the coveted A. A. U. crown, will be striving to defend the title it won last year and was a slight favorite to duplicate the 1938 prize-winning performance. Chief threat to the Buck championship aspirations was Michigan who last week copped the national college title.

Set Mansfield Pace In A.B.C.

Weber, Donnellan Roll 1174 in Doubles Event.

Duke Weber and Bill Donnellan set the scoring pace for Mansfield bowlers in the two-man division at the American Bowling Congress in Cleveland yesterday.

The Liederkranz club pair came through with an 1174 series, which was added from two games of 410 and another of 354. This score will undoubtedly figure in the prize fund.

Another Mansfield total which might figure in the money was the 1123 compiled by Henry Michaels and Clyde Ritter.

Weber, who opened with a 234, shot a 593, while Donnellan hit for 581, rolling a 224 in the middle game. Michaels and Ritter turned out totals of 579 and 544, respectively.

Pete Grohol was high for the Mansfield bowlers in the individual event. He rolled games of 164, 209 and 197 for 570. Nick Schmidt was next high with a 552.

Not Treated Fairly, Says Collins, Released.

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—James "Ripper" Collins, regular Chicago Cubs first baseman for the last two seasons, who was sold outright to the Los Angeles Pacific Coast league team, declared today he had not been treated fairly.

Collins, informed of the transaction during the Cubs-White Sox game yesterday, stalked off to the clubhouse in stony-faced silence, but had plenty to say to reporters when he had cooled off.

"If they had only told me during the winter what their intentions were," he declared. "I could have done some good for myself. I had two offers to manage minor league clubs. One of them would have paid me around $12,000, as much as I could make in the majors."

Warren Leads Mates To Big 2876 Series

Rolls 631 Total In Westinghouse Plant League; Cheney Paces Doubles Loop Scoring.

WILLIE WARREN headed the scoring parade in the Westinghouse league at the Meder alleys last night with a 631 total, and led the Refrigeration Machine club to a brilliant 2876 series.

The Refrigeration Machines featured a snappy 1039 middle game. The high-scorers took three decisions from the Appliance Finishers.

Henry Heiser of the Order Service blasted the uprights for a 610 count.

Guldahl, Snead And Picard Masters' Choices

professional and amateur, teed off Joint favorites at 8 to 1 were today in the sixth annual $5,000 Ralph Guldahl, national open winner for the past two years; Sam Snead, biggest money winner in 1938, and Henry Picard, the defending tourney champion.

In addition to Picard, all of the former winners were in the field. These included Horton Smith, who took the first tournament in 1934 and then repeated in 1936; Gene Sarazen, 1935 victor, and Byron Nelson, who triumphed in 1937. Each of this trio was quoted at 14 to 1.

"Lighthorse" Harry Cooper was an 11 to 1 shot; Ed Dudley, Augusta pro, was 12 to 1, and Dick Metz, who topped the money winners during the past winter, was rated at 14 to 1.

Bobby Jones, retired wizard, who has never finished higher than thirteenth in this event, was listed at 40 to 1. Jones, however, was in fine fettle and predicted that if he had any success with his putting he would finish among the leaders.

Tyger Golfers Open Season On Shelby Layout April 15

Coach Oberlander to Build Team Around Bogner, Moorhead, Last Year's Mainstays.

CANDIDATES for the Mansfield high school golf team will start preparations on the Possum Run layout next week, Coach V. H. Oberlander announced today. Weather and course conditions will determine the exact day for the first workout, he said.

Golf prospects are far from drab this year, although two valuable members of last season's team, John Hallabrin and Chuck Schlegel, have been lost through graduation.

The team this season will be built around Bob Morehead, Westbrook Country club champion, and Harold Bogner, returning veterans.

Ten dual matches have been arranged for the Tyger linksmen, with the opening match coming Saturday, April 15, against Shelby on the Shelby course.

The Tygers will not make an appearance on the home course until April 29 when Canton McKinley comes to Possum Run.

Home-and-home matches have been scheduled with Shelby, Canton McKinley, Bucyrus, Wooster and Millersburg. The Tygers also are scheduled to compete in the district tournament in Bucyrus May 20. The schedule follows:

April 15—Shelby, there.
April 22—Bucyrus, there.
April 29—Canton McKinley, here.
May 6—Wooster, there.
May 13—Canton McKinley, there.
May 20—District meet, Bucyrus.
May 26—Shelby, here.
May 27—Bucyrus, here.
June 3—Wooster, here.
Dates for the matches with Millersburg have not been set.

Hangs Up 1971 In All-Events

Watertown, Wis., Star Takes Lead in A. B. C.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A generous slice of prize money from the American Bowling Congress coffers will be forwarded to Watertown, Mis., barring something cataclysmic in the remaining days of the 39th annual A. B. C. tournament.

The recipient-designate is one William Beisner, jr., 25, who proved himself 145 pounds of kegling dynamite yesterday.

This slightly built office clerk for a shoe company scored 1,971 to take first position in the all-events department and, en route, collected a second-place 709 in the singles on games of 254, 207 and 248. He contributed 656 of the 1,169 doubles count he shared with Lee Edwards. His total in the team division was 606.

Beisner, former Whitewater (Wis.) State Teachers college basketball star, trailed the winning all-events total of last year's congress by only seven sticks.

The North End Recreations of Detroit took third place in the five-man bracket last night with a total of 2,969.

HOLDOUT INKS CONTRACT

PORTSMOUTH —(U.P.)— Fred (Dixie) Martin, right-handed pitcher for Portsmouth's Middle Atlantic League baseball champions, was in the 1939 Red Bird fold today after signing a contract. First Baseman Walter Alston is the lone remaining Portsmouth holdout.

CASEY BEATS GUS

BOSTON Mass. — Steve (Crusher) Casey, 225 Ireland defeated Gus Sonnenberg, 210, Boston, 33:30.

Scoring a total of 24 points, Joe Saprano led Daley's Old-Timers to a close 42 to 40 victory over the Columbus club at the Friendly House last night. The Old-Timers held a 16 to 13 edge at the half.

Weak Pitching Hurts Indians

Vitt May Attempt to Obtain New Starters.

LAKE CHARLES, La.—(U.P.)—Once the least of his worries, the sorry performance of the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff in spring training games brought serious lines in the brow of Manager Oscar Vitt today.

Only Bob Feller, the youthful speedball phenomenan, has shown consistently good form in the box to date and even assuming that Johnny Allen and Mel Harder will round into shape for regular turns, Vitt must develop or acquire one or two other starters.

Bill Zuber and Tom Drake, who were counted upon for major assistance, looked bad on the mound yesterday in losing a 15 to 6 decision to the weak Philadelphia Athletics. Their fielding support was good yet Zuber gave up eight runs and eight hits in four innings and Drake allowed seven runs and seven hits in the same number. Two of the blows were home run clouts by Lou Finney and Frank Hayes.

Playing his first game of the training season, Second Baseman Sammy Hale, the "goat" of the Indian infield, astounded his critics with three home runs over the short left field fence here. Jeff Heath also hit for the circuit with one runner on base to save the tribe from complete disgrace.

Feller and the veteran Willis Hudlin were expected to pitch for Cleveland today in the second game against the men of Connie Mack.

REECE, REICHERT STAR IN SCHOOLMASTERS' WIN

John Reece and Earl Reichert scored 13 to 11 points, respectively, to lead the Schoolmasters to a 45 to 30, victory over the Marion Schoolmasters in Marion Tuesday night. This was the second victory of the season for the Mansfield club over Marion.

Signs Hawkeye For Wahlberg

Nolan Books Light-Heavies for Semi-Final Friday.

Davey Reynolds, popular Cedar Rapids, Ia., light-heavyweight, will oppose Whitey Wahlberg of Duluth, Minn., in the semi-final of Friday's mat card in the Armory. Announcement of the match was made today by the Quality club, which earlier had signed Del "Sailor" Raines to meet Leon Grandovitch in the main event.

Reynolds and Wahlberg are built along similar lines in the matter of skill. Both are exceptionally clean and well-grounded in the fundamental principles of scientific wrestling.

Wahlberg is facing a "make or break" stage in his midwestern career. Listed No. 7 among the light-heavyweights, another loss would blast him completely out of the picture. He is determined, however, to regain his lost prestige and expects to do it at Reynolds' expense.

Reynolds and Wahlberg will wrestle for two falls with a 45-minute time limit. The contest between Grandovitch and Raines is also over the two-fall route, but with a 90-minute limit.

One more bout wil be added to the card. Tickets are selling at Hunt's News depot and Ringside cafe.

Would Swim Channel

By RAY BLOSSER

WOOSTER—(AP)—No wonder Albine Farges, attractive 19-year-old French miss, feels Wooster college's pool is about as large as a sardine can. A 19-mile swim of the English Channel is on her program this summer.

"I don't know if I can do it or not," says the plump Wooster College senior, "but I know I am very, very strong."

If Miss Farges can celebrate her 20th birthday next August by swimming from Cape Gris Nez, France, to Dover, England, there still will be room to count on her 10 fingers the women who have completed the chilling grind.

Channel swimmers have become as scanty recently as channel-swimming attire. Miss Farges thinks the reason is that the water has become colder. "If it's warm and the seas are calm, it will be much easier, but sometimes the best swimmers in the world couldn't make it."

Miss Farges has trained in England the last three summers, and before that in Spain and Italy. A native of Lyon, France, she came to Wooster on a scholarship as a junior and is majoring in English. She has been swimming since she was 5, and has won several continental long-distance swimming events.

"I don't like a race, though," she says. "I like to take my time. I love to swim a long time and I love to swim alone. I swim but little during the winter—the pool here is small and there is not much time—but all summer I'm on a beach."

Her longest grind has been one of 10 miles. She came out of the water "not tired, but just frozen."

ALBINE . . . ambitious.

Financial Report of Richland County

For the Year Ending December 31, 1938.

CERTIFICATE OF THE COUNTY AUDITOR

Auditor's Office, Richland County,
Mansfield, Ohio, March 15, 1939.

I, Norman L. Wolfe, Auditor of Richland County, Ohio, do hereby certify that the following report is correct.

NORMAN L. WOLFE,
Richland County Auditor.

Court of Common Pleas, Richland County,
Mansfield, Ohio, March 15, 1939.

I certify that the following report is in compliance with the law.

C. H. HUSTON,
Judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

The following explanatory remarks and data are submitted for the better understanding of the annual financial report.

County General Fund

In addition to the expense of operating the Court House and Jail many welfare activities are financed from the County General Fund. These include the Children's Home, County Infirmary, Soldier's Relief and Burial, Blind Relief, Aid to Dependent Children, care of indigent tubercular cases and indigent crippled children, as well as the maintenance of several hundred persons in various State institutions for the feeble minded and insane.

Agricultural extension work, and County and State elections are also financed from the General Fund.

Drastic reductions in the real estate tax have greatly reduced General Fund revenues and have made it difficult to carry on the ordinary functions of Government. Richland County has the extremely low operating levy of 2.00 per thousand dollars of tax value. According to information furnished by the State Auditor this levy is one of the lowest of the 88 Counties in Ohio.

Debt

No new bonds have been issued during the past three years and the County debt is being steadily reduced. The amount of outstanding bonds and notes was reduced from $226,715.00 on January 1, 1938 to $170,530.00 on January 1, 1939. In order to protect the limited operating funds the County has followed a policy of issuing no new bonds without a vote of the people. If this policy is continued Richland County will be entirely free from debt in 1940.

In 1927 Richland County owed approximately two millions of dollars. Taking into consideration the balance in the Bond Retirement Fund and excluding Poor Relief Bonds that are financed by the State the County owes less than $50,000.00. This is a per capital debt of 75 cents in 1939 as compared with a per capita debt of $30.00 in 1928, and a per capita debt of $1.15 in 1938.

County Road Funds

Since the defeat of the one mill Road Levy all the income for road purposes is now derived from the Auto License Tax and the Gasoline Tax, and County Road Revenues have been greatly decreased in the past decade. The detail of the expenditures from this fund is easily followed in the report.

Tax Funds

The County acts as a tax assessing, collecting, and distributing agency for the other units of local government; namely, the schools, cities, villages, and townships. Richland County acts in this capacity for sixteen school districts, two cities, six villages, and eighteen townships. These funds make up the item shown as "Undistributed Taxes."

In 1938 the County handled $3,097,226.22 in tax funds for the various units of government.

The other items contained in this report are, I believe, self explanatory.

NORMAN L. WOLFE,
Richland County Auditor.

PAM—Clare's Recollection! By A. W. Brewerton

SHE RECALLED SOMETHING THAT MAY PROVE A CLUE, YOU SAY?
YES, COLONEL, CLARE THOUGHT OF IT IN THE NIGHT—IT WAS THIS: WHEN SHE FIRST HEARD THOSE SHOTS AND FINALLY HAD COURAGE TO---
---PEER CAUTIOUSLY INTO MR. GALTMAN'S OFFICE, SHE REMEMBERS NOW DETECTING THE SCENT OF A STRONG PERFUME, EVEN RECOGNIZED THE KIND—IT WAS ONE CALLED "FLAMING BLOSSOM"! DON'T YOU SEE, THAT MEANS A WOMAN MUST HAVE BEEN THERE NOT MANY SECONDS BEFORE!
3-30
YOU'RE RIGHT—THAT MIGHT PROVE A VERY TELLING CLUE!
I SUPPOSE IT WAS THE SHOCK OF WHAT SHE SAW—HER FAINTING AND ALL, MADE HER FORGET ALL ABOUT THIS LITTLE DETAIL—BUT SHE REMEMBERS IT NOW VERY DISTINCTLY—CATCHING THAT UNUSUAL SCENT!
AND I'M GLAD, NOW, I DID EXACTLY AS DAVID ASKED ME TO—KEPT AT CLARE TO FORCE HER MIND TO GO BACK TO THAT SCENE AND TIME—MUCH AS I HATED TO WORRY HER, SHE'S BEEN SO NERVOUS AND UPSET, POOR GIRL
YES, YOU DID RIGHT! IT MAY BE JUST THE CLUE THAT'S NEEDED!

DALADIER TALK FAILS TO SPUR STOCK MARKET

List Virtually at Standstill With Few Favored Issues Holding Chief Interest.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—A few favored stocks managed to edge upward in today's market, but numerous issues were virtually at a standstill.

The speech of French Premier Daladier, answering the latest one of Mussolini, failed to excite Wall Street, but most thought it was moderately optimistic. Improved sentiment in London, Paris and Amsterdam aided markets in these centers to maintain a steady to firmer tone.

Support was accorded U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Great Northern, American Telephone, United Aircraft, Sperry, Westinghouse, Goodyear and Sears Roebuck. Bonds and commodities were a big mixed.

Recovery proponents viewed as constructive the Dun & Bradstreet summary for the week ended yesterday disclosing bank clearings, for the country as a whole, were ahead of the comparable 1938 period for the fourteenth consecutive week.

Holders of building material company shares noted estimates first quarter volume of orders in this field, while somewhat below expectations, topped the 1938 months by about 20 per cent.

ARREST YOUTH IN SHOOTING

Police Here Pick Up Morrow Boy Hour After Hold-up at Williamsport.

Strayer and C. W. Cale took the youth to Williamsport where he was identified by Fringer.

Girl Absolved.

The girl who was absolved of any connection with the shooting after questioning was taken home.

The state patrolman said that Wilson finally admitted the hold-up five hours after he was picked up, calling the shooting an "accident" which occurred during a scuffle with the filling station proprietor over the gun.

Wilson told the officers he pulled into the station, 300 feet off the main highway and purchased five gallons of gasoline and two quarts of oil for his father's car which he was driving.

He said that he had only a dime and that when Fringer took his change sack from his pocket, he pulled a revolver from his overcoat pocket.

In the tussle that followed, the youth grabbed the money bag and the single shot .22 calibre gun was discharged, the bullet striking Fringer in the back.

Throws Gun Away.

Wilson then jumped into the car and drove north on U. S. route 42 to a county road where he stopped and tossed the gun into the bushes at the side of the road and removed a rubber covering from the license plates.

Cale said that a search in the heavy fog last night failed to reveal the gun which he said had been remodeled and the barrel cut off.

Fringer told the officers that he was suspicious of the car when he started to fill the fuel tank with gasoline. He said the license plates were covered and that he had lifted the covering to look at the number. It was this number that was reported to police here.

Fringer, with the wound in his back crawled to a garage near the filling station where attendants there called Sheriff Oscar George at Mt. Gilead.

The sheriff said today that unless Fringers' wound became more serious, he would file charges of armed robbery against Wilson.

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS TO AID FAIR VISITORS

4 Non-Fiction Additions Give Picture of Metropolis and Tips for Sightseers.

For those who plan to attend the World's Fair in New York City this summer, the Mansfield Public Library has added four new books which gives a word picture of the metropolis. "New York "Panorama", prepared by Federal Writers' Project, presents a comprehensive view of that city, while a chapter on the fair serves as a guide book to that attraction.

"Seeing New York" by Elisabeth Hubbard Landing plans sight-seeing trips which will be interesting to children as well as grown-ups. Each chapter outlines a day's trip, with directions for transportation as well as for finding a convenient restaurant at lunch time.

"Changing The Skyline" is an autobiography of Paul Starrett, America's master builder who built America's first famous skyscraper, the Flatiron building and more recently, the most famous skyscraper in the world, the Empire State building.

Another book about a personality important to the New York picture is "Lillian Wald: Neighbor and Crusader" by Robert L. Duffus. The story of Miss Wald's achievements in the field of humanitarianism shows a side of the great city which should not be missed by the visitor.

Of particular interest to Ohioans is Ruth McKenney's new book on the Akron industrial situation. Miss McKenney, a former Akron newspaper woman, is the author of "Industrial Valley," a well written but not always accurate analysis of the labor picture in the rubber city. She has recently been identified with a national Communist publication.

Writes of Nazis

An outspoken account of present-day Germany and the Nazi leaders is given by Martha Dodd, daughter of the former ambassador. She spent more than four years in Nazi Germany, moving in official circles and observing the activities of the government. The book is called "Through Embassy Eyes."

Members of the Art Study club of Mansfield have presented to the library a copy of the "New Standard Encyclopedia of Art" which is based on the French work by Louis Hourticq. This reference book contains detailed facts about important artists, works of art, art museums, art trends—and important discussions which throw light on these facts. Painting, sculpture, architecture and all the minor arts are included. The series of half-tone plates, each group devoted to a separate period or aspect of art are useful sources of information.

Other non-fiction: "School for Dictators" by Silone, "Fascism for Whom", Ascoli and Feiler; "Dictatorships vs. Democracies, 1938", by Summers; "United States Foreign Policy", by Johnsen; "Far Eastern Policy of the U. S.", Griswold; "Pursuit of Happiness: The Story of American Democracy", Agar; "Doctor—Here's Your Hat!" Jerger; "Consultation Room", Loomis; "Adolescent", Arlitt; "Adolescence", Averill; "Economic Program for American Democracy", Harvard & Tufts, economists; "Pump-Priming Theory of Government Spending" ed. by Nichols; "Reorganization of State Governments in the U. S.", Buck; "Your Taxes", Shultz; "Public Welfare Administration", Stevenson; "New Play Areas", National Recreation Association; "Indian and Camp Handicraft", Hunt; "Applied Time and Motion Study", Holmes. Ref. books: "By Way of Introduction: A Book List for Young People"; "Books for Self-Education", Edge; "Vocations in Short Stories", Morgan.

Only eight new fiction volumes were added this week and they are: "Wickford's Point", by John P. Marquard; "Demon's Daughter", by Honore Morrow; "Mrs. Warrender's Profession", by Cole; "Here Comes a Candle", Jameson; "He Wouldn't Stay Dead", Davis; "Cause for Alarm", Ambler; "Barbed-Wire Empire", Drago; "Border Justice", Moore.

Book of the Week

"THE YOUNG COSIMA," by Henry Handel Richardson (Norton: $2.50).

A GREAT many people will rub their eyes as they go through Henry Handel (Henrietta) Richardson's "The Young Cosima," her first novel since "Ultima Thule" ten years ago and probably the least effective of all she has done.

It seems quite impossible that this stilted production can be the product of the same hand which turned out "Maurice Guest," for example. But it is possible that this reader retains some exaggerated ideas of the goodness of that novel, since he read it when he was very young and aching to be stirred.

"The Young Cosima" is the story of Hans von Bulow's halting attachment for Liszt's illegitimate daughter, and the disruption thereof. As most of us know, Cosima (and her sister) were boarded out in Berlin with Hans' mother, a stern and yet emotionally unstable old battleax determined to retain her ascendancy over her son at all costs. Hans really did not want to marry Cosima, yet after he had been ensnared he rather liked the state he found himself in.

Hans was the slave of his wife's father, Franz Liszt, and of the then exiled Richard Wagner. He spent his time and his money and his nervous force making Berlin propaganda for the two great men.

His reward from Liszt was a kind of Olympian tolerance. From Wagner he got complaints and worse. There is nothing in musical history quite so nasty as Wagner's consistent and vulgar misuse of his friends.

As is also well known, Cosima began her contact with Wagner by disliking him for his attitude toward Hans. Later she married him, having pitched Hans into the garbage can. This pretty little story is the substance of "The Young Cosima."

Many readers will have several objections to what the author does with it. An elementary one is her gloss over Cosima. Cosima was merely a calculating little hussy in real life, an opportunist with small conscience and less loyalty.

Another is the quite absurd way in which she has imagined the people in her book to have talked—people of the period wrote stilted letters, but they spoke good, homely German in Germany. Another is the strange quality of the narrative portions: "But was he well, and in tune, she turned the time to good account." And similar backward writing.

Perhaps this is simply not a subject for the historical novelist, inasmuch as nothing but betrayal happens.

—By J. S.

Professor Says Students Mustn't Be Told They're Morons.

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(INS)—A college student may be a moron, but he mustn't be told about it! That was the ruling of Dean Daniel Buchanan of the University of British Columbia recently when he forbade a group of volunteer students to take an intelligence test. "Low scores might develop an inferiority complex if students received them," ruled Buchanan.

Kitty Stowaway Sets Out To See World In Mailbag

ST. ALBANS, Vt.—(INS)—Here is some true-life material for a Walt Disney fantasy.

The plot concerns itself with the mis-adventures of a little kitten who sets out to see the world—in a railway mail sack.

The kitten, office mascot of the Salem, Mass., postal station, had been missing for several days. An inquiry revealed it had wandered unnoticed into the mail sack of the Boston-St. Albans run.

Daniel Driscoll, a railway mail worker, discovered the kitten on the St. Albans end of the run and turned the animal over to friends until it could be returned to Salem.

GO REALISTIC

Toledo Librarians Find Wild West Stories Less In Demand.

TOLEDO—(INS)—Books dealing with aviation, athletics and vocational subjects are supplanting wild west stories and fairy tales in the reading taste of modern children, a report of the Toledo Public Library reveals. The report states that children are leaning away from the fantistic and imaginative towards the realistic and practical in reading matter.

Example In Good Citizenship.

SOMETHING of a challenge to native-born Americans is the assertion of Common Pleas Judge Huston, that not, during the eight years he has been on the bench, has one of the foreign-born residents to whom he has granted citizenship ever been before him on a criminal charge.

This speaks well for the class of people who have been attracted to Richland county from other countries, and also reflects credit on the training in fundamentals of American citizenship made available to aliens in this community.

When the difficulties of a strange language and new customs are considered, the fine way in which a large majority of foreign-born men and women adjust themselves to a changed environment is really remarkable. The fact that there is such a small percentage of intentional law violators among them is also noteworthy.

As was said to the 58 foreign-born men and women upon whom American citizenship was conferred at the Richland county court house this week, the privileges of citizenship carry responsibilities that cannot be safely ignored.

It sometimes seems more essential that this be stressed to native-born Americans than to naturalized citizens, for it is the former who have had the advantage of free schooling in this country, and longer opportunity to learn the difference between liberty and license.

The United States of America has profited much, during the past century and a half, by the energy, initiative and qualities of good citizenship brought here by desirable immigrants from other lands.

When America has better solved the problems of more adequately providing for its present population, and established better standards of behavior among its own people, further gradual absorption of industrious and law-abiding immigrants may appear entirely practicable.

More to Pay Income Taxes.

FEW will question the fairness of the recent United States Supreme Court decision that federal income taxes are to hereafter be paid by officials and employes of states, counties and municipalities, and that federal employes are subject to state income taxes.

For some reason, not entirely clear, there has been a theory that such taxation was unconstitutional and heretofore all employes of states and their subdivisions have been exempt from payment of federal income tax. Nor have the 33 states with income taxes made collection from federal employes.

Just how much revenue will be derived from this extension of the field of taxation cannot yet be estimated, but the idea that office holders and others on public payrolls should be required to pay an income tax on their earnings in excess of exemptions seems in line with common sense consideration of this subject.

Europeans Study America.

AMERICANS used to go abroad to complete their art or professional studies or for a final bit of polish to perfect their education. The situation is rapidly being reversed. Americans still travel abroad, but chiefly for sightseeing. Europeans are coming here more and more to study our methods in business, industry and modern living.

The steamship companies have been among the first to recognize the new trend, and have furthered it by preparing special tours for such visitors. They have made exhaustive studies in various industries, crafts, trades and professions and now offer interested foreigners observation tours in these fields.

The same thing could be done for travelers interested in our historical development and in our extremely varied climate and scenery. Few Europeans can take in all of this country in a single trip, but they should at least be encouraged to see more of it than New York and Niagara Falls.

Criticism of Faulty Speech.

A LITTLE lecture on American speech was delivered recently by Dr. Hubert Greaves of Yale university, addressing a group of advertising men:

"Of all English-speaking peoples," he said, "we probably have the worst articulation. We force people to guess the meaning of a third of what we say.

"We slur our vowels, speak in too-low tones and drop our voices to end a sentence. It makes us masters of the uncompleted sentence.

"One of our commonest self-imposed handicaps is speaking monotonously in only three or four speech tones when we should use an octave. This makes it harder for people to listen and to distinguish our meaning.

"Far too many of us never let our faces light up. We are what is known as frozen faces, dead pans and sourpusses. We should let our faces be radiated by the ideas of the mind.

"Our schools, which carefully train us to think and express ourselves verbally, have ignored the fact that articulation, tone and body action are also mediums of communication."

That one idea of using a whole octave of tones instead of speaking in monotone would do much to brighten talk.

Broke at Sixty-Five.

THE majority of men who have money at 35 are broke at 65! Business failures, bad investments, illness and other unexpected cataclysms tell the tragic story.

The majority of these men could have enjoyed financially independent old ages, instead of having to depend on charity or the bounty of relatives—had they put aside money at the time when earning power was at its height.

Keeping Step

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — New Dealers close to the White House are actually conducting a publicity campaign which would seem calculated to aid the nomination for president by the Republicans next year of a man President Roosevelt cordially dislikes. That man is Thomas E. Dewey.

Not that this publicity campaign is praising Dewey. Quite the contrary. It avoids any reference to Dewey whatever. No, the campaign takes the form of trying to wreck the man who is regarded as Dewey's chief contender for the Republican nomination, Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio.

If any group of ten or more persons is polled as to the man they would name if going into a pool on the Republican nominee, a majority of them will be found to be voting for Dewey. This is by no means to say that a majority of every such group actually favors Dewey—that remains to be demonstrated by polls. But he is the man a majority of people seem to think has the edge at the present moment.

If the same groups are asked to name the man they would give second place in probabilities, Senator Taft is almost unvaryingly the one named. This is not a matter of conjecture, and is not news. It is merely stating the foundation on which the activities of an important group of New Dealers seem to be based.

EVERY TIME in the last few months when a group of New Dealers would be at some party or gathering where friendly newspaper men were—especially parties where there could be mixing around and small group conversations, it has been noticed that within a few days attacks on Taft would appear in the newspapers represented by these correspondents. It has happened too many times to be a coincidence, and it has not been a coincidence. There has been too much frank conversation to permit of that possibility.

One explanation, of course, lies in the fact that of all the men who have been prominently mentioned as probabilities for the Republican nomination, Senator Taft is beyond doubt the one whom most ardent New Dealers would dislike most to have as president. He stands foursquare against more New Dealerisms, and is on record as criticising them and demanding their repeal, than any other Republican who has been mentioned as having a chance for the White House.

Far more, for example, than Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, who is inclined to be liberal on many issues. Far more than even Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, who is probably more popular personally than almost any one who has been mentioned. Whereas Mr. Dewey has stated his position on very few issues indeed so far as the national picture is concerned. He is against crime, and rackets. But so is everybody except the criminals and racketeers.

It might be thought that if the New Dealers believed strongly enough in their own medicine they would like to see the Republicans nominate somebody who was 100% anti-New Deal, on the theory that this would insure continuance of the New Deal by the election of a Democrat. Or it might be thought that they would be afraid to try stopping any one who might defeat Dewey in the Republican convention, on the theory that Dewey, having captured the imagination of the public to such an extent without taking sides on national issues, might be a dangerous threat to continued Democratic power.

MORE probably, however, it is a continuance of the logic which worked so well in undermining Alfred E. Smith, and in making the name du Pont a political liability. In short, if you say a man is a reactionary enough times, people will believe it.

'I THOUGHT WE WERE PARTNERS, ADOLF"

Filipino Problem Bobs Up Again

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

PRESIDENT QUEZON of the Philippines suddenly has decided that he wants a Filipino plebiscite in 1944 before Uncle Sam accords out-and-out independence to the archipelago's people. The question of Philippine independence has been fought over in Congress for years and years.

It generally was assumed here that the Filipinos demanded it. Their spokesmen in Washington said so. There was, however, considerable congressional objection to letting them have it, on the ground that the islands' masses were unripe for self-government. Their leaders replied that this was immaterial.

Away back in 1925, when Pedro Guevara was their commissioner here on Capitol Hill. I had an interview with him on the subject. "You Americans," he pointed out, "promised us independence whenever we asked for it. Now we're asking for it. Whether or not we're ripe for self-government is our business; not yours. Are you going to make your pledge good?" That was during the era when bootleg racketeering was rampant. Commissioner Guevara held in his hand a local newspaper, the front page of which was frescoed with stories of wet-and-dry violence. He spread it out before me. "We're as ripe for self-government," he asserted, "as you seem to be."

Same Logic In 'Em.

His remarks had a certain amount of logic.

Moreover, there was quite a bit of American sentiment on the supposed side of the Filipinos—partly on the theory that their argument was sound; partly on the theory that, as an American possession, the islands are too far-flung to be an asset to us. Rather a liability. Most of our naval authorities said so; so did some of our statesmen.

Harry Hawes of Missouri, while in the Senate, plugged furiously for the independence program. Harry's retired today, but Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland has directed the fight more recently. It's been a mixed military and economic proposition.

But back of it there has been the issue of pure justice.

Do the Filipinos want independence? If so, O. K. They're entitled to it.

But maybe they don't want it? Don't they possibly prefer staying with us to being gobbled by Japan a little later? On that supposition, we have to admit that we assumed (pretty forcibly) responsibility for them, and are more or less bound to protect them indefinitely, even as a liability.

The point is:

Do they want our protection?

Manuel L. Quezon undertook to solve this problem. He's an outstanding Filipino (now president).

"I'll inform the Filipinos," he promised, "what's to their best interest."

It was a foregone conclusion that he'd be pro-independence— and that the Filipinos would be too subject to him to dispute his teachings. He was expected to have the masses under his thumb.

Swapping Horses.

Now, Quezon, who guaranteed to inform the Philippine masses, serves notice that he suspects the Philippine masses have misinformed him. He isn't dead sure, but he wants a popular vote—he's extremely doubtful, in fact.

International politics are involved, but international economics even more so—sugar, vegetable oils and stuff like that.

The whole game has been set back by President Quezon to its very beginning—a dozen or fifteen years. When he heard the news Senator Tydings gave a loud groan, and added some profanity. What looked like having been settled a decade ago starts off all afresh.

It makes Dr. Vicente Villamin laugh. A celebrated Filipino economist, he's been stirring up procohesion sentiment. Watch him. He's due to figure more than any other single individual in relationships in the Orient. As a comparatively inconspicuous Filipino, he's more than ponderable in the Far East.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

Reason for Industrial Fear.

By GUS W. DYER
Professor of Economics, and Sociology, Vanderbilt University.

When this government was established a century and a half ago we were a rural people, occupying a wild, undeveloped country. We were without capital, without credit, and without experience in the field of industry. But we had a Constitution that gave full and effective protection to our inalienable rights against the government.

This Constitution was the product of the wisdom of experience. Its chief characteristic is the super protection it gives to fundamental human rights and to the essential principles of industrial stability and industrial progress against the hazards of majority rule. This super-Constitutional protection is the real source of American industrial progress, and has been the effective safeguard of business through all the adverse conditions and experiences of our history.

Business came out of the depressions of 1828, 1837, 1848, 1858, 1873, 1882, 1893 and 1903, without any special aid or dictation from the government and without any unemployment or relief problem. The depressions of 1873 and 1893 were world-wide in extent, but they could not stop American industrial progress, while it was under Constitutional protection. In such case after a brief period of readjustment business of its own strength and of its own initiative came back stronger and more efficient than it had ever been before.

But in all of these depressions business had an assurance that dispelled fear and inspired hope and invincible confidence. Through the darkest clouds of the depression business leaders could always see, just ahead, the solid foundation of Constitutional protection. This supplied the inspiration that always brought business back.

Why is it, then, that business has failed for the first time in our history to come back from a depression? The answer very generally given to this question is that business is held back by fear and uncertainty. This is true. But what is the source of this fear? Is it imaginary, and without substantial foundation? This fear is not imaginary. It is real and thoroughly justified by the untoward conditions from which it springs. It cannot be moved by stimulants and narcotics, neither can it be "explained away" by reassuring phrases.

The fear and uncertainty that have robbed business of its recuperative vitality, and arrested industrial progress are due solely to the fact that the present administration has taken from business that super-protection given to the essential principles of industrial stability and industrial progress by the Constitution, and subjected industry to the hazards of mass domination. Industrial stability and industrial progress are impossible under mass dictation, expressed by majority rule.

The Chief Executive has made it plain that he does not believe in nor subscribe to the American theory of super-Constitutional protection against the government. He has made it clear that he believes that the will of the majority, regardless of how the majority is obtained, is the supreme law of the land. Congress has co-operated with the executive in this radical departure from super-constitutional protection.

The present congress, however, is giving strong evidences of a return to the American ideals in government. The fear and uncertainty in the minds of business men have been greatly increased by the strange averseness of the supreme court to give any opinion on the constitutionality of radical administration laws. To ask why business does not move forward under such chaotic conditions of uncertainty is only to reveal ignorance of the essential conditions of business progress.

This does not mean that American industrial progress has come to the end of its road. Administrations and courts may arrest industrial progress for a time, but they can't stop it. In the end the unwritten Constitution, indelibly inscribed in the hearts of Anglo-Americans, will assert itself. Washington will soon hear, if it has not already heard the sovereign command of this unwritten Constitution that often nods but never fails to awaken in a Constitutional crisis, "impedimenta to the rear!"

Timely Editorial

Undemocratic Action.

A Chicago doctor, in common with many others, put his experiences into a book in which he took occasion to say that to his mind the old-time family physician was indispensable to the nation, and that "super-specialization" is a tendency that helps pave the way to socialized medicine.

This view may be wrong but has been said before, and the book was nothing exceptional, though it was condensed later by Readers' Digest, where it reached a wide public.

The author, Dr. Joseph A. Jerger, says that because of views expressed in the book, he has now been barred by organized medicine in Chicago from hospital there, which means that he is denied the facilities of all hospitals under the American Medical association.

It is the A. M. A.'s turn to explain, and in the meantime if what Dr. Jerger says is so, a question arises as to the state of democracy in the organized profession.—Detroit News.

A Farmer's Diary

Breaking the Colt.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

MY NEIGHBOR and his 15-year-old son broke the colt one Saturday, when the morning chores were done. The farmer fixed his strongest, heaviest wagon, while the son went into the stable to curry his favorite. The spirited three-year-old seemed to understand, for when I peered in, I saw him touch the cheek of the admiring boy with his soft, velvety nose. No one but a lover of horses can appreciate the thrill of such a caress.

"Did you ever harness him?" I asked.

"You bet. . . .thirty times or more. He knows the bridle and the crupper, too. Don't you, Jim?" He stroked the sleek flank.

"He is a beauty," I said.

"Pop and I are goin' to hitch him up with old Liz today. She's slow and gentle, and won't move too fast no matter what didoes Jim cuts up. He's ready for some adventure—like I am! I watered him an hour ago, so he'd get warm before we started out."

The father fastened the gentle mare on the nearer side of the tongue, and hooked the neck yoke, then the traces. Then he adjusted the lines. The wind was raw, and as the youth led the colt out from the corner, a corn husk sailed through the air, above his head. Jim gave a lunge and reared sidewise on his hind feet, dragging the lad some distance on the frozen ground.

Jim backed all the way to the wagon. The father lightly snapped the traces to the double tree while the boy nervously hitched the check lines to the bridles. The older man got on the wagon first, and the boy hopped on behind. "Let 'im go!" he cried.

And he did. The colt made a few prancing steps and kicked across the inside traces, then raised up in front and put his check rein and hitching strap across old Lizzie's hame. The strap broke, and Jim, in partial freedom, sprang forward. The boy ran around the front on old Liz's side, and grabbed Jim's bridle, to hold him back until his dad could mend the strap.

They proudly drove him five times around the ten acre field and both were smiling as they passed me. A colt trains a boy, as well as a boy a colt.

Listen, World!

Don't Try to Forget.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU say you can't forget? Well, what of it? Haven't you gumption enough to stand your own memories? Haven't you sense enough to turn all your memories, good or bad, bitter or glad, to advantage? Sense enough to see that memories are the stuff life grows in?

You say you can't forget. Go out to the soil. Take some of it in your hand. Study that soil. The soil doesn't forget, either. It has never forgotten anything. Everything that has ever happened to man since the beginning of time, is in it!

Tears are in the soil. Sweat is in it. Blood and dead bones and carrion are in it. Flowers are in it, too. And sunshine and fruit and sweet gums and the fragrant dust of a million Springtimes. All of it there, in the dust. AND THE LIFE OF TODAY GROWS IN THAT DUST OF THE PAST.

NEXT JUNE'S ROSES WILL ROOT IN LAST JUNE'S MUCK.

Think about that. Let yourself be touched by the drama and poetry of that fact . . . by the wonder and mystery and terrible power of the soil. You are touched, aren't you? Then why aren't you touched by the drama and poetry of your own life . . . by the wonder and mystery and power of your own soul?

SOILS AND SOULS ARE ALL OF A PIECE.

They are accumulations. Accumulations or experience, and that which IS and IS TO BE springs from that which WAS.

You say you can't forget. Don't try to forget! Try to remember. Face your memories and try to understand them. Some of them hurt, terribly, while you were accumulating them. You would, if you could, have put that experience from you. You were bitter, broken, ashamed. But all that is over now. They have become memories.

AND NOW EACH ONE OF THEM, NO MATTER HOW HATEFUL IT WAS IN THE PAST, IS IMPORTANT . . . IS VALUABLE . . . IS SOIL FOR GREATER GROWTH.

Face your memories. Don't omit any of them. Use them all.

You had a great tragedy? Death took the one you loved best, broke your heart? THEN BE GLAD THAT YOU COULD LOVE GREATLY ENOUGH TO HAVE A BROKEN HEART. Be proud because your life once held such glory. And, in your ploughed soil, plant richer harvests of love.

You made a great mistake? What if you did? It would have been infinitely more tragic if you had never made mistakes—if you have never risked life enough to make a mistake. Be glad you dared to risk. Stop snivelling and sneaking. Be grateful for the wisdom you gathered from that shame and disaster. Use that wisdom. Live the more abundantly because of your dearly bought wisdom and strength.

You say you can't forget. Don't try to forget. Treasure your memories. Treasure the deep, black soil that you built with your tears and terrors, your miseries and mistakes. Weep new tears. Make new mistakes. Risk new tragedies. DEEPEN THAT SOIL OF MEMORY AND GROW IN IT. THE DEEPER THE SOIL, THE GREATER THE GROWTH.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, March 30, 1919.

After advancing from Central to Eastern standard time, Mansfielders were undecided about adopting "daylight savings" time.

Mrs. Ada Marriott, 258 West Third street, sustained dislocated shoulder by fall down steps at home.

Mrs. Kenneth Dirlam, Lancaster, Pa., was visiting Mansfield relatives.

Robert B. Adams, 66, veteran Mansfield traveling salesman, died at home of sister in Utica.

Rev. E. J. E. Kuhlman, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, accepted call to pastorate in Toledo.

W. E. Becker was called to Albany, N. Y., by death of his mother.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, March 30, 1934.

Harry E. Hawley, postmaster for nine years, resigned, two weeks before term expired.

An explosion of hot slag at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company aroused Mansfield out of early morning sleep.

George Satterlee and H. R. Darling purchased all of the food markets in the West Fourth street market building.

Three children were injured in different auto accidents: Donald Cline, 3, Jack Boubarry, 6, and the small daughter of William Danner.

Mrs. John K. Sulzer died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Davis, 121 Rowland avenue.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Mourvneen Johnson, 94 Vennum avenue.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The treaty of Russia for the purchase of Alaska was concluded by the United States on March 30, 1867. The sum of $7,200,000 was paid for this territory, which contains 590,884 square miles.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

To Be "Discharged."

The individual who is discharged does not appreciate any sense of relief or unburdening; but that, sardonically enough, is what the word literally embodies and signifies.

"Discharge" is the Latin dis prefixed to the French charger; it meant originally "to unload," as to discharge a vessel.

Subsequently, the application of the word was extended variously; as to firearms in freeing the implement of the missle; to the payment of a debt which presumably relieves one of a mental or financial weight; and, among other usages, to the letting at large of a prisoner; the emitting of liquid from a pipe or container, or pus from a wound: and the dismissal of an employe; in which last instance, the enterprise is unburdened of someone not needed.

Daily Bible Thought

THINK OF OTHERS: And the Lord turneth the captivity of Job, when he prayed for his friends: also the Lord gave Job twice as much as he had before—Job 42:10.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—That the Fair is driving the city people to the suburbs and the suburbanites to the country has been made more than clear to the residents of Rockland county, New York, and some of them are pretty sore about it. Rockland county is 30 or 40 miles from Manhattan, and there is no reason to believe that what has taken place there hasn't been put into effect in other surrounding territories.

This is what has happened: Nearly a year ago a group of agents began browsing through the nearby villages taking leases on houses for rent at a very nominal figure. They tied these dwellings up in iron-clad leases and have proceeded to hold onto them for the Fair. Now they are subletting these houses, apartments, and buildings at sky-high rentals, pocketing the profits, and grinning to themselves while the county folk writhe in chagrin. The profits gained are running from 70 to 200 per cent.

A SUICIDE on the east side has left a $2 bank note, a copy of Shakespeare's "Macbeth," and the Ace of diamonds as the legacy to whomever should find and claim them. He had no relatives, and the latest information is that the body as well as the ace, the bill and the book had been taken over by the city.

Mention of a high card in connection with death always reminds me of Joe the Boss, czar of the metropolitan underworld who was succeeded upon his death by Lucky Luciano, vice overlord now serving time at Dannemora.

Joe the Boss was playing poker at a table in a Coney Island spaghetti joint one afternoon when a couple of thugs stepped through the door and riddled him with lead. Joe was dead before he hit the floor, but when the police got there he was still clutching the Ace of diamonds in his fist.

Joe was the last of the gang czars reputed to bear a charmed life. He had been shot at and missed many times. When they finally got him he was given one of the first of the ornate funerals which later came to characterize the rites of fallen gangster chiefs. Joe was laid away in a $15,000 casket, and 60 Cadillacs followed him to the grave.

ALL this preaching about there being no nudity or shows with sex appeal at the Fair should be taken with plenty of salt. There will be everything from burlesque and strip to nude ranches and Lady Godivas, but it would serve a lot of people right if the public took their word for it and sought their entertainment elsewhere.

It should be recalled that no World's Fair has ever existed without the girl show angle predominating. Always there have been "Little Egypts" and bubble dancers. Nobody objects to them, for there's always more talk than nudity, anyway. Everybody knows there will be plenty of entertainment of the risque variety. What I can't understand is why people put out stories like that. Do they think they can entice millions of visitors by offering them lectures on botanical research?

THEATERS

THE most expensive split rail fence in history is going up at Twentieth Century-Fox studios where "Young Mr. Lincoln" is being filmed. The efficient property men couldn't produce with machinery anything that looked like a weather beaten hand-split rail, so they put to work a crew of rail splitters. And after the rails are split they must go through an expensive aging process. There will be 2,000 of them in the fence and each rail will cost $5 to make, without reckoning the cost of the timber. Young Mr. Lincoln would probably have been amazed at a $10,000 rail fence.

Horseplay and Action.

There's a lot of horseplay in "Gunga Din" which is entertaining if not logical, but the merit of the film lies in the big action scenes which required thousands of men and horses. Particularly well done are the scene in which the English and Scotch troops march and attack the barbaric hordes of Kali, with the dashing Sepoys riding to the rescue. The film leaves the impression that the famous poem was written by Kipling at the grave of the original Gunga Din. The picture and "The Lady and The Mob" are at the Ohio.

Cooper Is Featured.

The re-making of an American boy from an aggressive and resentful tramp into a credit to his birthright is the theme around which action at Culver Military academy revolves. "Spirit of Culver," a Madison attraction, glorifies the famous military school, with Jackie Cooper, Freddie Bartholomew, Andy Devine and Henry Hull in the leading roles. "Sunset Trail" takes Hopalong Cassidy to new and stirring adventures in Sacramento.

Newspaper Story.

Pat O'Brien, who once played the hard-boiled city editor in the stage play "Front Page" and later played the reporter in the same play on the screen, is a city editor once more in "Back In Circulation," a newspaper story with Joan Blondell as the girl reporter. Margaret Lindsay and Regis Toomey are also featured in this Majestic theater attraction for the last two days of the week. Charles Starrett in "The Thundering West" rounds out the bill.

Nurse's Secrets.

A nurse hears a lot of things in a big city hospital that she tells to no one, but in "Secrets of a Nurse" one of them forsakes her professional pledge to tell her story on the witness stand. Her story is intended to save a man from the electric chair, but it almost fails. Edmund Lowe, Helen Mack and Dick Foran are an interesting triangle. A story of the Foreign Legion is told in "Adventure In Sahara." The two pictures are at the Park.

NEW SALES TAX RECEIPTS TO BE REDEEMABLE BY INSTITUTIONS

New issues of sales tax stamps which the consumer may redeem after May 1 at 3 per cent of the face value, will be available to vendors by April 24, A. B. Mabee, district tax manager for the state, announced today.

Mabee said that the new receipts will be redeemable in amounts of $100 or more when presented by religious or charitable institutions. They will not be accepted from individuals.

He explained that new supplies of these receipts may be purchased from county treasurers and agents on and after April 24. If the supply of receipts of the old issue is exhausted by the vendor between April 24 and April 30, merchants will be permitted to use receipts of the new issue, Mabee said.

Beginning May 1, and extending through May 6, an agent of the state tax commission will be on duty at every county treasurer's office to receive unused prepaid tax receipts which must be accompanied by a duly executed application for refund.

Beginning May 1 and extending through June 30, unused receipts, together with the application may be presented at the district tax office in the Walpark building here or at the state tax commission office in Columbus, Mabee said.

The Mansfield district includes Richland, Ashland, Wayne, Knox, Holmes, Morrow and Marion counties.

WRITING NO FUN

It's Really Work, Noted Biographer, Critic Declares.

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—Most good writers don't like to write at all, because writing is work, stated Carl Van Doren, noted biographer and critic, during a lecture engagement. "I'm always suspicious of writers who 'simply love to work'," he said. "A good writer is just a bit afraid when starting a story, but when it's over you feel you've done something."

DOUBLE INJURY

Women Struck By Car Upbraided By Driver.

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—Insult was added to injury when a motorist struck down Mrs. Zoe Witt as she crossed a street. After knocking her down, the driver returned and upbraided her for being in the street. Mrs. Witt who was only slightly hurt, complained to police.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

'PEDRO'S COCONUT SKATES' by Esther Wood, describes the adventures of a little boy in the Philippine Islands, who was so curious that he was always causing trouble. He went to live with his uncle in a house built on stilts and sometimes he swept and polished the floor with his coconut skates. When he tried to stand on the back of a water buffalo that was resting in the water he found out how badly he had wanted the lunch he was carrying when he fell off. This story is liked best by the ten-year-old readers who like adventures.

In "PYGMY'S ARROW" by Thames Williamson, older boys will read of mystery and adventure in the Belgian Congo. The two brothers in the story are the sons of a missionary in the jungles otherwise inhabited only by pygmies. It is the kind of story that can't be put down until it is finished and the mystery is solved. The characteristics of pygmies and the atmosphere of the jungles are clearly described.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.
Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Don't Drive Nails In Your Own Coffin

"Constipation May Intensify Conditions Doing that Very Thing" Says World's Tonic Man.

It seems a little strange that people would do such a foolish thing but the many thousands of men and women who allow constipation tto gain a foothold are certainly not helping to prevent the above from happening. Many forms of painful ailments and disease find partial source in the poisonous wastes that this brings about. Rubbing linaments on an aching back doesn't take away the cause of those aches. The red blood cells have the job of carrying nourishment to every part of your physical machinery. They never stop moving until the heart stops beating. If you allow poisons to seep into these red blood cells they can't stop and ask for a refund or replacements. They have to go right on flowing and distributing whatever they have to work with. So when you are careless about the source of these supplies and allow faulty elimination to pollute them, you are somewhat like the fellow who drives nails in his own coffin.

And now more words of praise for the famous World's Tonic from Mrs. Catherine Hopkins of 42 Russell Ave., Akron, Ohio.

"For several years I had been so badly constipated that many painful conditions resulted. I lost track of the number of medicines I took without getting satisfactory results. At times I'd have pains across the small of my back and hips that were so severe it seemed I could hardly stand them another minute. At times I'd have such bad spells of dizzy and bilious attacks that I'd have to sit down for fear of falling. Nervousness was making me irritable and grouchy and I didn't want people to be around me. Rheumatic-like pains had my joints and limbs all sore and stiff and I was spending a lot of my time in doctors' offices. I was impressed by the number of good things people were saying about World's Tonic and by the sincere manner of their stories. Many of them told of symptoms that were exactly like mine.

"I particularly noticed that many of them told of keeping right on using World's Tonic until they got a full measure of good results. So I bought a month's supply and started taking it. In two weeks time my change was remarkable. My constipation improved in grand style and all its painful results started going away as I kept on. Today I have a dandy appetite and my complexion looks a lot clearer. I'm not bothered with those aches and pains and that irritable feeling has left me. I feel I owe World's Tonic a debt of gratitude and will try to pay it by telling all my friends about this good medicine."

No matter how much money you have spent nor how many kinds of medicines you have tried without results, don't give up hope. Consider these honest and grateful expressions of relief from thousands of users, many of them living right here in town as your very neighbors. Talk to some of them. There must be reasons for all the good will this famous medicine, with its roots and herbs and valuable alkalines, is creating daily.

REDDY KILOWATT SAYS
oh BOYS and GIRLS here's a tip about FLYING KITES

● This is certainly swell weather for flying kites—lot's of wind and everything. But here's a little tip I want to pass along to you so you won't spoil your fun.
● Never fly kites near electric lines. You know that some kite strings are made of fine wire, so if your kite string happened to come into contact with the electric wire you might be injured. Even a damp cotton string is a conductor of electricity.
● Keep away from houses, trees, and far from streets and roads. You know you can't watch your kite and traffic, too.
● If your kite darts from side to side, pull it down and add more tail. Keep a steady pull on the string at all times. If the kite begins to fall, pull in quickly.
● Don't climb trees to rescue your kite unless you are positive that the limbs are strong enough to support your weight.
● And finally, NEVER CLIMB ELECTRIC LIGHT OR TELEPHONE POLES if your kite becomes entangled in wires. I certainly do not want any of my little friends to be injured while playing. And never try to knock it down with sticks or stones—you'll ruin the kite anyway. In case of emergency be sure to call me.
Your friend,
REDDY KILOWATT.

HOW DOES SHE DO IT ON WHAT HE MAKES?

Gas Refrigeration Costs Less In The Long Run

Modern refrigeration by gas costs less in three ways. You save on the upkeep of the unit, on food, on operating costs. A gas refrigerator freezes without moving parts so there is nothing to wear out, nothing to require expensive repairs. Constant cold and proper humidification keeps larger quantities of food fresher for a longer period of time. A tiny gas flame does all the work at a cost of less than 2 cents a day. Why say you can't afford gas refrigeration when really you can't afford to be without it? See the new 1939 Servel Electrolux models. Find out how you can install one in your home now and pay for it out of the savings it will make for you.

GAS DOESN'T COST ... IT PAYS!

Always Felt Tired Out Until He Took "Vendol"

Mansfield man says long suffering from nervousness, sleepless nights, headaches, aching muscles and other complaints have vanished since Vendol relieved constipation and acted as a mild diuretic to kidneys.

Here is an interesting account of what Vendol did for a well known local man. Mr. Albert R. Beesler, living at 285 Third Ave., Mansfield, employed as a Steel Cutter at Westinghouse Electric, who in a recent conversation with the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store, said:

"It has been a long time since I have known what a night of restful sleep was really like. It would take me two or three hours to fall asleep after I had gone to bed, but even then it was fitful, and I'd roll and toss all night long. Besides this, if I was fortunate enough to doze off for a while, I would have to get up to relieve my kidneys, and this broken rest over such a long period of time just had me worn out. It made me quite nervous too, and many mornings I'd get up with a headache, dizzy feeling, my muscles felt sore and stiff, and was just so tired I hated to go to work.

"I was troubled a lot with indigestion, also. I know now that constipation was the real cause of this for I always had to be taking some form of laxative. So much gas would form after I had eaten a meal that I would bloat up something awful and would become terribly short of breath. This gas pressed around my heart so bad it would cause palpitation and this really had me frightened.

"It seemed every time I picked up the paper, I read what some local person said Vendol had done for them, so I started on the treatment a few weeks ago, and today I actually feel like a different man.

MR. ALBERT R. BEESLER

"I have never had any medicine act so easily and pleasantly to relieve constipation as Vendol, and once this was accomplished, those other ailments went away very quickly. I found that I was again able to get a full night's rest, awakened in the morning feeling fresh and energetic—no headache, dizziness, or aching muscles. I can now eat a hearty meal with no bad after-effects, such as indigestion, gas or bloating, and without this distress my food is a great deal more nourishing.

"I could go on for hours, telling of the wonderful good Vendol has done me, but instead, would ask that you give it a trial. If you suffer as I did, there is no doubt in my mind that you'll say Vendol is the best medicine you have ever known."

Learn how Vendol can help you, too. Come to Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., ask for me, the Vendol man, and I will explain all about my medicine made from Roots, Herbs and valuable Alkalines. Why not give it a trial?

JAPAN'S GOODS SEEN REFUSED MOST IN WEST

Survey Indicates Boycott of Nippon Accounts for Fourth of Loss in Trade.

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—America's private boycott of Japanese goods, as a result of the invasion of China, accounts for approximately 26 per cent of the total $52,000,000 decrease in imports from Japan during the first year of the war, according to the Institute of Pacific relations.

The institute arrived at its conclusions through a questionnaire sent to labor organizations, department stores, chambers of commerce and similar organizations throughout the country.

Finally, a sample test was made in Toledo, O., as a representative Middle West city by a house-to-house canvass to determine how many families were refusing to buy Japanese goods.

In the last year before the war, the United States imported from Japan $204,000,000 worth of goods. Then, in the first 12 months of the war, this total of imports fell to $152,000,00. Of this $52,000,000 decrease, however, the institute estimated that only about 26 per cent has been due to the boycott.

Other Boycotts In Far East.

Similar boycotts, it pointed out, are being carried out on a private basis in England, France, India, Canada, Austraalia, New Zealand and other countries. The most effective of these are those of the states in Southeast Asia.

The substantial results from these boycotts, the institute found, have been more than double those of the United States.

An analysis showed that American private boycott has operated in three different lines of Japanese goods.

The loss of trade in class A, or easily recognizable consumers' goods such as toys, brushes, and earthernware and for which substitutes are available, amounted to 23 per cent of the decrease, or $11.000,000.

In class B goods, raw silk, for which substitutes cannot easily be found, and which constituted 52 per cent of American imports from Japan before the war, the decline was neglible, with only $3,400,000 being attributed to the boycott.

Class C, which consists of producers' goods and for which there are few available substitutes, such as menthol, camphor, and perilla oil and semi-manufactured goods on the wholesale level, acounted for 5 per cent of the decrease, or about $10,200,000.

Some Imports Increase.

In certain classes of Japanese imports there was even an increase. This was especially true in case of zipper products.

The survey indicated that sentiment in favor of boycott was much stronger than actual action in carrying it out.

The consumers' boycott movement was found to be strongest in the Northwest and on the West coast; fading into ineffectiveness in the Middle West and South and in Los Angeles. Urban centers were found to be more active in the boycott than rural districts.

The only political appeal to the boycott was found to be in an intensification of the "buy American" movement.

"While the boycott movement in the United States and elsewhere," the institute said, "has not, as some sponsors hoped, delivered a telling blow to Japan's war machine, it has nevertheless resulted in loss by Japan of a substantial amount of trade and commercial good will."

Corrigan Still As Unassuming As Day He Reached Ireland

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—Douglas Corrigan, the flier who went the wrong way and made good, is still as modest and unassuming as the day he landed in Dublin thinking it was Los Angeles.

The youthful aviator stepped out of a day-coach with only a small overnight bag "with an extra shirt" to fulfill a three-day personal appearance tour in the northwest.

Public response to Corrigan's initial film appearance may induce him to do another movie. He may also write another book.

Corrigan came to Portland direct from the Golden Gate exposition at San Francisco, where the small antiquated plane that took him to Ireland is on exhibition.

"While I was there someone tried to pull the doggone compass out," laughed Corrigan. "The compass still works both ways—right and wrong."

Barkley Maps 10 'Desirable' Objectives for Congress

LAWMAKERS TO STAY AT POSTS FOR 3 MONTHS

Business Appeasement Left Off List; Neutrality Law Revision Tops It.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Listing 10 "desirable" objectives headed by a neutrality law revision, Senate Leader Barkley (D-Ky) outlined a legislative program today that he said would keep congress in session until late in June.

Conspicuous by their absence from Barkley's list were amendments proposed by businessmen and the A. F. of L. to the labor relations act, as well as suggested consolidation of corporation taxes into one general levy.

Three Tax Objectives.

Barkley, who conferred yesterday with President Roosevelt on the legislative program, enumerated three tax objectives—temporary "freezing" of social security payroll taxes at present levels, continuance of so-called nuisance taxes, and approval of reciprocal state and federal salary levies. Taxes on income from future issues of government securities also may be considered.

Besides these tax objectives and neutrality, Barkley said congress should enact:

Railroad relief legislation.

A cotton export subsidy plan as suggested Tuesday by President Roosevelt.

An emergency appropriation for the WPA as well as relief funds for the next fiscal year.

Legislation to expand and continue housing activities.

The remaining portions of the national defense program.

The annual departmental appropriations bills.

Barkley said he expected considerable time to be consumed by hearings on neutrality, railroad and labor legislation, but said it was his "conservative estimate" that congress could wind up its work between June 15 and July 1.

The Democratic leader said he had opposed, as a member of the foreign relations committee, the committee's decision yesterday to hold public hearings, beginning next Wednesday, on a half dozen proposals to revise the neutrality act.

She'll Turn Down Dad's Plea, Lose Riches He Willed

CHICAGO—(INS)—A storybook problem faced Adele Gay today. But there was no last page to turn to and solve it.

Miss Gay, 32 years old and attractive, must marry within a year to inherit a share of her father's $300,000 to $500,000 estate.

To complete the plot there is a catch. She must embrace the Jewish faith, which she has renounced.

When Harris Goldman died last Sunday in Elgin at the age of 90 he left a will disposing of the fortune he made as a junk dealer, between his seven children.

Bequests were made outright to six of them. But to Adele who changed her name several years ago and joined the Congregational church, he left the choice of choosing a husband and rejoining the Jewish church or being cut off with a meager $5.

A clerk in the Children's Memorial hospital, Miss Gay said she had no intention of complying with the terms of the will.

"He told me this was in his mind a long time ago," she said, "but it made no change in our relationship. We were always very close. I was with him when he died."

SUCCUMBS AT 83

Henry Gage Was Former Merchant at Centerburg.

WILLARD—Henry Gage, 83, former Centerton merchant, died at the home of his son, Ernest, in Cleveland Wednesday. A native of Centerton, north of here, Mr. Gage was the son of Albert Gage, who operated the first general store in this vicinity. The only survivors are the son and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Centerton M. E. church at 2 p. m. Saturday with Rev. H. R. Chalfant of Willard officiating.

ESTATE VALUED

Estimate of $7,000 Placed On Property of Late C. E. Morris.

Value of the estate of the late C. E. Morris, former Shelby councilman and member of the county Republican executive committee, was estimated at $7,000 today in an application for administration filed in probate court.

The amount includes $6,000 in real estate and $1,000 in personal property. Morris, who died March 21, left no will. Mrs. Lamintie Morris, the widow, was appointed administratrix of the estate.

Up and Down THE STREET

The Albert Bissmans, 300 North Townview circle, have a problem, and it isn't a child, cat or dog. It's politics. Albert has been a lifelong Democrat and the Missus is active in the Republican Women's organization. But he objects to having her listed as "Mrs. Albert Bissman" when taking part in Republican affairs for fear old friends will think he has changed his allegiance. So she has solved the problem by using "Mrs. Pearl Bissman" when in Republican activities and her husband's name for social occasions.

A meeting last night at the American Legion home of baseball fans brought out approximately 500 persons who are interested in reviving organized baseball in Mansfield, and in the entire crowd there was just one woman—Mrs. John Newton, one of the city's most ardent fans. The first speaker, sighting her in the crowd, started his speech with "Lady and gentlemen!"

Ex-Mansfielder Bud Simon of Oakland, Calif., son of Carl Simon, is climbing high in the sports world this spring. A series of photos in last Monday's issue of the Oakland Tribune show Bud as a pole vaulter of that city's Piedmont high school track team. He illustrated the ups and downs of his art in a sports page splash of eight photos, which take up nearly half of the page, starting with his run, continuing with the scale and finishing with his drop in the sawdust pit. Bud is also a high and broad jumper and a member of the school's golf team.

Another sure sign of spring bobbed up today at the county jail. The jail population, which has been above 20 all winter, has dropped to six prisoners, the lowest number in months. Mild weather, officers explained, gives transients the urge to hit the road again and when they get out of jail they don't come back. The population was down to five for a few hours yesterday, but an intoxication case added one to the register.

FILLS VACANCY

G. O. P. Committee to Select Successor to Morris.

The Richland County Republican executive committee is expected to name a successor to the late C. E. Morris of Shelby as a member of the committee when it meets tonight at Republican headquarters here.

It was understood that Charles Swanger, Shelby barber, is in line for the post, but party leaders declined to comment on the possibility of his being selected.

Ralph Hardy, chairman, said the committee probably will endorse William Morris for deputy registrar of motor vehicles to handle the sale of auto tags in Shelby. Morris has been in charge of the tag sales since C. E. Morris, deputy registrar for a number of years, died 10 days ago.

DINGLEDINES, DAD, SON LOSE IN CHAIR FIGHT

Dingledines, Chapman to Be Electrocuted April 19; High Court Rejects Pleas.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Without money or hope, Harry and Henry Dingledine and Harry Chapman virtually gave up today their fight to escape death in the electric chair for the slaying of two Springfield peace officers.

Shortly after the Ohio supreme court refused their pleas for appeal late yesterday and set April 19 as the date of execution, the men said they would do no more than make the customary plea to the governor for mercy.

"We haven't enough money to keep fighting," they said.

The Dingledines—father and son of Springfield and Chapman, once of Chicago, were convicted of slaying Clark county Sheriff's Deputy Edward Furry and Springfield Patrolman Martin Randolph during a raid of officers on a resort cottage at Crystal lake Sept. 3, 1937, shortly after a cafe operator was robbed of a payroll.

Chapman was shot and seized, while the Dingledines escaped to Michigan, where they were captured. Robert Cornette, a bandit, was slain during the gun battle.

"I am not bitter, but terribly disappointed," Chapman said when told that his appeal had been refused. "Every American citizen is guaranteed in the bill of rights a free and impartial trial. I was tried with two men previously convicted and I was not competently represented."

'JACK RIPPER' (JOHN BRICKER), PLANNED AT NEWSMEN'S DINNER

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—The press had its annual bit of fun at the expense of public officials and politicians last night at the Columbus Press club's gridiron dinner.

The newspaper men presented a show entitled "The Rippertorial Follies of 1939," in burlesque of the new Republican state administration's "ripper" legislation.

Governor John W. Bricker was called "Old Jack Ripper" in a song to the tune of "Old Man River." It went:

"Ol' Jack Ripper,
"That ol' Jack Ripper,
"He won't say nuthin'; he won't do nuthin',
"He just keeps rippin', he just keeps rippin' along.
"The civil service and tax commission
"He'd scuttle minus Ed Schorr's permission,
"Oh, ol' Man Ripper, he just keeps rippin' along."

Charles Sawyer and Judge Arthur H. Day, defeated in last fall's election, were pictured as "Two Weepy People." The song went:

"Here we are, out of politics,
"Just a pair whose tricks ain't the sort that clicks,
"Two weepy people — our day dreams all shot,
"Two guys the electorate forgot."

The dismissal of Warden James C. Woodard of Ohio penitentiary also found its way into the show. A recitation by a man in prisoner's stripes went:

"We heard that Woodard, our warden,
"Was readin' the help wanted ads,
"And then Amrine shows up at the prison
"With all his darned crazy fads.
"'I like you', says Sherwood to Woodard,
"As he chased him right outa the place.
"'Yer record is fine', he continued,
"'But I'm just sick a-seein' your face'."

Acting Warden William F. Amrine was called "Amerine, Amerine, the bull with the delicate ego," in a song to the tune of "Ferdinand the Bull."

TEACHER DIES

Miss Lindsey, Shelby Piano Instructor, Stricken at 63.

SHELBY—Ill for two weeks, Miss Maude Belle Lindsey, 63, piano teacher here for many years, died this morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. I. M. Workman, near Shelby.

A native of the Rome community, Miss Lindsey began teaching piano in Shelby soon after she was graduated from Baldwin-Wallace college. She lived in Shelby for 34 years.

She was a member of the First M. E. church of Shelby, the Daughters of America, Women's Relief Corps, and the Royal Neighbors.

Surviving are the sister and three brothers, Carl and Jud Lindsey of Shelby and Clyde of Bryan, Ohio.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Barkdull funeral home, Shelby, with Rev. Arthur Staples, pastor of the First M. E. church, officiating. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

WOULD ABOLISH RESTRICTION ON $200 EMPLOYES

Recommends Wage-Hour Act Revisions in Brief Sent Congress Committees.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Wage-Hour Administrator Elmer F. Andrews has approved the proposal before congress to exempt persons receiving a salary of $200 or more a month from the hours provisions of the fair labor standards act, it was disclosed today.

Andrews submitted a formal brief to the senate and house labor committees and it was on his recommendation that Chairman Mary T. Norton, of the house committee, introduced a bill to revise the act, not only for employes in the $200 classification, but to provide limited exemptions for seasonal processors, small, independent telephone exchanges, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

Opposes Lower Figure.

"A guaranteed monthly salary of either $200 or $250 would be a satisfactory basis of exemption from the act," Andrews asserted in his brief. "A lower figure than $200 would undoubtedly exempt a considerable number of salaried workers to whom overtime benefits of the act would be extended.

"Exemption of all salaried workers who receive $200 or more, or $250 or more a month, would exclude from the act, regardless of other provisions, a considerable proportion of those whose work requires flexibility of weekly hours and whose salaries are commensurate with their responsibility."

Andrews could not estimate the number of workers who would come under his proposed exemption. He asserted that studies of clerical help in Michigan and Pennsylvania led him to believe that it would not apply to more than five per cent of male, or one-half of one per cent of female clerical workers. He pointed out that under the act as it now exists, he had ruled persons earning more than $30 a week and performing "duties" involving a combination of management, direction and discretion" exempt from the present 44-hour work-week limitation.

3 EXTRA HOURS

Tax Office to Be Open Saturday Afternoon, Final Day.

The only extension taxpayers will have this collection period will be an additional three and a half hours Saturday afternoon, County Treasurer John E. Kolb said today.

Collections continued to pour in, with yesterday's receipts of $29,475 bringing the total to $394,089. Personal tax collections Wednesday amounted to only $1,326, however, bringing the total to $34,780, still far below last year.

Kolb said his office will be open until 3:30 p. m. Saturday to receive last-minute payments. The office usually closes at noon on Saturday. Because the collection is already a month late, there will be no extension of time this year, he said.

Personal tax listings must be filed with the county auditor by Friday night, but payments may be made until April 10 without penalty, Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said.

SLUGGER EVADES POLICE CAPTURE

Los Angeles Council Raps Probers In Wounding of Actress.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Search continued today for the Hollywood slugger who brutally struck down a 17-year-old actress, as the Los Angeles city council, in a resolution, sharply criticized the police department and asked for a legal ruling on the possibility of posting a reward for the man's capture.

Police Capt. D. R. Patton, heading the homicide detail, said he was convinced the assailant of pretty Delia Bogard, once the pigtailed "Tomboy Taylor" of the "Mickey McGuire" film series was the same man who bludgeoned to death Anya Sosoyeva, Russian dancer, on the Los Angeles City College campus Feb. 25.

NEW YORK—(U P)—Ed Wynn, a comedian on the stage, was just the opposite at home, so much so that the second Mrs. Wynn suffered "a post marital depression," she charged in a separation suit on file in supreme court today.

Mrs. Wynn, the former Frieda Mierse, beauty contest winner, asked for $250 a week temporary alimony and $7,500 in counsel fees. A hearing on her petition is scheduled for a week from today.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Statesmen Who Criticize Foreign Nations Should Do It Only While Sober

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

WASHINGTON—So much depends on the public remarks of men in this Government, particularly as to foreign affairs, that there should be an honor committee among them to hold them to sobriety during business hours and on the radio or for the press after school.

If a man speaks in a reckless or irrational and provocative manner when he is cold sober the people who elected him are stuck with him and his remarks and have no remedy but to lick him at the polls next time around.

But whether he is elected or hired, which is to say appointed, there is an assumption that even if he is not a teetotaler, he will handle his liquor capably.

The country should not have to risk the consequences of remarks tossed off, perhaps into the teeth of some paranoiac European marauder, by a government agent who is either drunk at the time or mentally impaired by that lingering picklement which in some hard drinkers persists for from 24 to 48 hours after a binge.

There is no such escape in the law, however, and there are no regulations, so it develops upon the men, themselves, who make up the Government, including the houses of Congress, to impose a rule of conduct that is expected to be observed by every person who drives an automobile.

The history of governmental Washington is rich in amusing stories of picturesque old toss-pots and nocturnal door-kickers, now preserved in marble or bronze in Statuary Hall, who delivered deathless orations when they were barely able to stand and couldn't see at all.

A lifelong teetotaler would not be a competent witness, but any man or woman who has had experience in liquor is eligible to testify that alcohol tends to stifle discretion and blur judgment.

But business men trust themselves to read and sign important documents when they are feeling gigantic, and men in the Government should admit and act upon the fact that a colleague who is known to get blind now and again may deserve public exposure so that intemperate remarks may be discounted both at home and abroad.

It is a strange fact that the civil branch of government in the elective and higher appointive levels is the only zone of activity in this country in which a man may get drunk, stay drunk for days or keep himself in a mildly stewed condition for years without loss of privilege or standing. A clerk may be fired but a statesman may not be even rebuked.

It is in the field of foreign relations that irresponsible remarks may be particularly dangerous and deserve the least protection from the tolerance and etiquette of the statesmen. Bellicose speeches and statements tending to aggrevate hostile feeling bring their rejoiners, and the showdown may involve the lives of millions.

It is bad enough that sober fools may court wars for younger men to fight, but there seems to be no way of avoiding that risk.

In Washington it is sometimes heard that this or that person of prominence and influence, known to the public only by name and official position, was out on the town the other night and tried to drive a hotel sofa down the street against the lights.

But only a comparative few know such explanatory truths and may divide a statesman's remarks next day by just that much, leaving a quotient of O, while the world, uninformed, takes them at face value.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Mr. R. E. Overly of Pipestone, Minn., thinks it's "halt-calling time" on:

". . . the full orchestration in accompaniment to a singer when there is revealed in the scene but a single musical instrument.

"Sometimes," he complains further, "there isn't even an instrument in view. Occasionally a singer performs out in the open and YET there is the damnable background music to spoil the entire effect, and it does spoil the swellest kind of singing. . . .

"Apparently," this halt-caller pursues, "directors become so absorbed in the story that they cannot see any of the little things which go to make a picture natural and honest. Too many things are overlooked . . . something like stumbling over a dollar to pick up a nickel. Pictures are sometimes strained and silly because of this. I like my pictures real and natural, with actors doing the THINGS WE ALL DO—little everyday happenings which we can understand and appreciate. So, I say, if there is no orchestra in the scene, then keep out the music. Let singing stars sing to the accompaniment of music they themselves produce. . . . Why not start a quiz of your own and find out how many of these nuisances will come to light?"

Oke. Mr. Overly, the quiz is opened. Come one, come all!

And while I'll agree with your complaint in some respects, I hope you'll admit exceptions. Did you see "The Great Waltz"—and that imaginative picturization of the birth of Strauss' "Tales From the Vienna Woods?" What would it have been without the full orchestra supplementing the natural forest sounds and the music of the roadside workers?

This—in my opinion one of the screen's most memorable musical sequences—began with something like naturalness: the rhythm of the cab wheels, the call of birds, the songs and calls of field hands and early-morning strollers; it built from these as the music took form in the composer's mind, grew and grew to the magnificent outburst of melody which lifted at least one member of the audience practically out of his seat!

This, incidentally, has come to be the accepted technique (if seldom so magnificently realized) for introducing accompaniment in unexpected settings. Once upon a time Hollywood thought nothing of planting singing hero and heroine in the middle of the Sahara and making them burst into song while suddenly, out of nowhere, came a symphonic burst of sound. Today they'll at least suggest the musical theme in nature, or make it an unobtrusive continuation of the entire musical score. (But don't mind me—I'm of the movie-going cian that's gotta have music, and the more the happier.)

On the subject, how many fans have compared the entertainment value in two films—one carrying background music throughout, the other just dialogue and sound? Or see a movie in rough cut—minus the score? It'll make you doubly grateful for the musicians and their part in movie-making. What do other fans think about it?

were given uniforms and sent by train to their destinations.

Daladier's Strong Stand Wins Acclaim.

PARIS—(AP)—Premier Daladier's strong declaration that France would cede "not a foot of our land nor one of our rights" to Italy seemed today to have won both popular and political acclaim.

Even the premier's bitter political enemies endorsed his stand—that France would yield no territory, that she would negotiate colonial and other differences with Italy if Italy took the initial step, and that France was strong enough to defend herself.

The Paris press was unanimous with praise.

The Socialist Leon Blum, who frequently has opposed the more conservative Radical-Socialist, Daladier, declared that "we approve of this language." (Blum spoke for his party.)

The Communist party newspaper, consistently a critic of Daladier and increasingly so since the Munich in Czechoslovak partition No. 1, added its endorsement—even though the speech appeared to have advanced the dispute with Italy, over Italian agitation for French African colonies, no further toward settlement.

The general comment was "now it is up to the axis" of Italy and Germany. Daladier, in his address which was broadcast last night, struck also at Germany, whose break-up of Czechoslovakia two weeks ago, he said, was a "heavy blow" to efforts for peace.

At Grenoble and several other cities near the Italian frontier, hundreds of Italian expatriates who profess anti-Fascism paraded through the streets crying "Viva Daladier. Down with the Duce."

Daladier's speech answered that of Premier Mussolini last Sunday, in which the Italian leader contended that Italian claims in Tunisia, Djibouti and the Suez canal were presented by diplomatic note last Dec. 17

'Emergency' Seen As Cabinet Meets.

LONDON—(INS)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and members of his cabinet held a sudden, unexpected meeting today under circumstances that suggested an urgent question regarding European affairs was being discussed.

The meeting followed Chamberlain's announcement that the wartime footing of Great Britain's territorial army would be increased to 340,000 men. This came as the prime minister's first major reply to German and Italian aggrandizement in Europe.

Chamberlain's ministers gathered while the British press resounded with words of praise for yesterday's radio address by French Premier Edouard Daladier, who warned that France would refuse to yield her territories or rights in the face of Fascist pressure. Daladier's speech, in the British view, was proof that the Paris government could not be intimidated by Premier Mussolini.

Nazi Press Flays Britain's Arms Plan.

BERLIN—(U.P.)—Great Britain's decision to double its territorial army was branded "an anti-German measure" today.

But Premier Edouard Daladier's radio speech rejecting any suggestion of territorial concessions to Italy was virtually ignored by the German press.

Commenting on Britain's increase of its territorial army the Boersenzeitung says: "The British can make as many military gestures as they like.

"London should not expect however, that this will make any sort of impression on the greater German reich or to the Rome-Berlin axis."

Germany Withholds Danzig Plans, Claim.

WARSAW, Poland—(U.P.)—A foreign office spokesman said today that Germany had made no proposals or suggestions regarding Danzig and that there had been no diplomatic discussions or negotiations with Germany.

The statement was made in an answer to reports abroad that Poland and Germany were discussing the future of Danzig.

Col. Josef Beck, foreign minister, had a talk with Hans-Adolf Von Moltke, the German ambassador, Tuesday night.

Despite inspired articles in German publications, political quarters seemed to attach little importance to the possibility of an early German diplomatic move against Poland, either as regards the status of Danzig or the allegations that the German minority in Poland had been treated unfairly.

formatory in 1924 from Franklin county on a charge of auto stealing for one to 20 years and walked away from the Sandusky honor camp eight months later. He would have been eligible for parole in two months.

Stephens had been living in Detroit and was married and has several children. Authorities said he was estranged from his family. An argument with a friend with whom he had entrusted his secret led to his capture.

Chapman was committed to the reformatory Feb. 24, 1928, from Marion county on a charge of assault with intent to rob, and was sentenced for one to 15 years. He escaped Jan. 24, 1931, and was apprehended in Chicago this week.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said today that the penalty for escape is an additional year, which will be given to both men, but pointed out that Stephens would be given additional time for fighting extradition which cost the state considerably more to bring him back.

On that basis Stephens, who has been free for 14 years, probably will not be eligible for parole for at least two years.
